GLENDALE'S DYNAMITERS TO FEAST AGAIN

Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce Has A Sewer Problem on Hand

Our City comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Glendale Must Have Factories to Give Us More General Business

THE business men of a great many of our California cities, especially the smaller ones, do not give enough attention to the industrial growth of their cities, although boosting along other lines.

* * *

GLENDALE citizens have boasted of their city quite a lot and in consequence have induced many to move here. They have advertised it all over the country as a city of homes, and to a great extent have kept it that way.

Glendale is a city of homes but in order to keep its business in a healthy condition something must be done to assist its growth in an industrial way. A few years ago, there was a general desire to discourage factories, many holding the view that an undesirable class of citizens would be brought in with the factories.

This might be true with a certain class of industries, but generally just the reverse is true.

* * *

NO BETTER CLASS of citizens can be secured for a city than the American working man. If all we desired for our city was that it be known as the sleeping porch of Los Angeles, we could rest content. But we have ambitions along other lines. To keep our merchants prosperous we must get busy and provide a pay roll of our own.

* * *

GLENDALE undoubtedly needs additional houses, flat buildings and the like. It is badly in need of a hotel, but for the future of the business of the town we must have more factories.

We would like to see a concerted campaign put on to secure this much needed payroll. It is the most stable way of securing and stimulating business, and the future of the city demands it. Let's get busy.

NOW that the wind storm is over, we can again settle down and enjoy ourselves and talk about our wonderful California climate. It is well that we have some disagreeable weather or we would fail to appreciate an average day. A wind storm such as we have had the past week is bad and does considerable damage, but it is not as bad as the severe cold weather the middle west is now experiencing.

* * *

A DISPATCH received this morning from New Mexico tells about two boys and a man being frozen to death and also two men who had been lost for several days in a snow storm, and we are picking roses in California.

VERDUGO HILLS FIRE SEEMS TO HAVE BURNED OUT

The Verdugo hills fire seems to have been entirely extinguished, although a watch was maintained all last night. About ten acres of ground were burned over. The cities of Burbank, Sunland, Tujunga, La Crescenta and Montrose were threatened in turn by the flames as the wind shifted from time to time.

Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson, who was feared to have been lost in the flames, was found safe last evening.

DYNAMITE BLAST WRECKS STATION

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 12.—A dynamite explosion presumed by the King county sheriff's office to have been caused by safe crackers, partly demolished the Great Northern railroad station at Richmond Beach, 16 miles north of here, shortly after 10 o'clock last night, according to information received here by railroad officials from J. E. Magner, agent of the road there.

The blast tore a large hole in the roof of the station and demolished a desk in the front office, the station agent declared. The safe was untouched and it was not known by the officials of the railroad in Seattle if there was any large amount of money in it.

DYNAMITERS TO BE AGAIN FEASTED

Football Team Lauded as One of Glendale's Greatest Assets

Glendale "Dynamiters" are to be guests of honor at a banquet to be given December 20 through the cooperation of the Rotary, Exchange and Kiwanis clubs, the realty board and the Credit Men's association and under the auspices of the chamber of commerce.

Principal George U. Moyse suggested this action last night to the board of directors of the chamber of commerce.

"We are all tremendously interested in our football boys!" he exclaimed. "Last Saturday's game was the most splendid exhibition of fighting spirit and pluck that I have ever seen."

W. E. Hewitt, president of the chamber of commerce, and other directors, expressed themselves as thoroughly in accord with the suggestion of giving the boys a "send off."

"I think we have one of the most wonderful bunches of athletes that any school ever had," commented C. W. Ingledue. "Unquestionably they were the superior team last Saturday. I think we ought to do all we can to encourage the boys."

W. L. Twining, chairman of the advertising committee, remarked, "Nothing has been done during the past year to bring more attention to Glendale than the high school team."

To make arrangements for the affair, to which about 70 high school players will be invited, C. W. Ingledue was appointed as chairman of a committee to be composed of two representatives from each of the other organizations interested. An attendance of 300 is anticipated.

PROF. SHEDD GIVES FOURTH RADIO SPEECH

Last night, Prof. John C. Shedd, head of the physics department of Occidental college, gave his fourth popular talk over the radio. His speech in part was as follows:

"My speech is on the fundamental concepts of physical science. There are, first, five assumptions which we shall make. The first one is that the world of physical science is an objective science. By this I mean that what happens in this world of physical science does not in any way depend upon you or me. It was here before us. It will still be here when we pass away.

"The second assumption is the simplicity of nature. We mean by this that there is no problem in science that we cannot solve, or that when we solve it we cannot understand.

"The third assumption is what we call the constancy in nature, that the same causes recur, then the same effect will follow.

"The fourth assumption is cause and effect. The cause must be sufficient to explain the effect; because cause need only be adequate to the effect.

"The fifth is the appeal to intuitive knowledge. The explanation must present itself to the mind of the student in such a way that he sees it satisfactorily.

"There are five senses with which we are able to receive messages from the outside world, namely, vision, hearing, feeling, smell and taste. These senses overlap each other, and sometimes one may be made to take the place of another. By means of the material furnished us by the five senses, we are able to work out four fundamental concepts upon which all of the physical world is built up."

LOS ANGELES TO GET A 1924 CONVENTION

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 12.—Los Angeles was selected today as the 1924 convention city by the American Association of Port Authorities. John Henry Walsh, member of the New Orleans dock board, was elected president of the organization

EAGLE ROCK MAN DIES AS SUICIDE

Charles B. Rourke of 2101 East Adams street, Eagle Rock, who shot himself in the right temple yesterday morning at his home, died yesterday afternoon at the Glendale Sanitarium hospital.

Despondency over ill health is believed responsible for the act by his wife, who is prostrated with grief.

Mr. Rourke was 62 years of age and had lived in Los Angeles for the past 12 years.

GLENDALE EXCHANGE OBSERVES ITS GUEST DAY

Glendale's new telegraph office at 221½ South Brand boulevard, which will be one of the most commodious in the state, will be ready for occupancy shortly before Christmas.

The Exchange club at its luncheon today in the Egyptian Village cafe received this cheering news with applause from D. K. Thomas of Los Angeles, commercial manager for the Western Union Telegraph company.

"A Peep at the World's Communication Cogs" was the subject of a short talk by Mr. Thomas who commented upon problems connected with the speeding of telegrams.

Only nine minutes is required to send a message from Glendale to London, according to Mr. Thomas. He called attention to the Los Angeles office which sends over 2,000,000 messages each month consisting of over 67,000,000 words. He stated that Los Angeles is connected by 43 direct wires with the leading cities of the United States.

"Guest Day" was observed by the club and each meber had at least one guest. These were introduced during the course of the luncheon.

A twenty-five dollar payment toward any lot selected in Glendale was the attendance prize. This was donated by W. C. Waring, who is connected with the realty firm of Finlay and Preston of 131 South Brand boulevard. F. E. of 227 East Broadway was the winner.

Dr. Henry R. Harrower of 920 East Broadway called attention to the Christmas welfare plans of the club.

Capt. D. Ripley Jackson of 1800 South Brand boulevard expressed regret that his term of office as president of the club is about to come to a close. He announced an election of officers upon December 26.

Fundamentals of Exchange-dom were explained by Secretary James Howarth of 343 North Isabel street. He called attention to the club's objection to excessive law-making and to its commitment to one-hundred percent patriotism.

DEDCIATION OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH DELAYED

Owing to unforeseen conditions, the recent burning of the planing mill, the delay in securing certain materials, and other exingencies, it has been found physically impossible to complete the Glendale Presbyterian church in a manner that is considered acceptable to the public and congregation, considering their welfare and comfort.

The joint committees of the Presbyterian church have this day accepted the architect's recommendation to postpone the dedication of their edifice until December 30, 1923.

NEW MEXICO STORM TAKES HEAVY TOLL

CLOVIS, N. M., Dec. 12.—Two boys and one unidentified negro were frozen to death in the storm which visited this section Monday and yesterday. The boys were sons of Joe Centrell, a rancher living 18 miles southwest of Friona, Texas. Two sheep men were lost in the snow storm and searching parties have not found them. The two Centrell children were found frozen to death in a school house where they had taken refuge. The negro was found dead in his cabin here.

GLENDALE WILL HAVE 50,000 BY JAN. 1?

This is Twining's View; Volunteer Fire Force Advocated

Glendale will have a population of 50,000 New Year's Day!

This prediction was made last night by W. L. Twining of 211½ South Brand boulevard, chairman of the advertising committee, at the weekly session of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

"People are not content to come here in ones and twos," he remarked. "They are coming here in bunches."

Attention was called by Mr. Twining to the newspaper campaign now under way to advertise this community throughout Southern California. He stated that a quarter page ad which will cost about $200, will appear in an early issue of the Christian Science Monitor.

"The big question before the people of Southern California is one of traffic," exclaimed Director P. J. Hayselden, chairman of the highways committee. "The San Fernando valley is wide awake on the question of its roads. This question of highways and bridges is a mighty big one for Glendale."

An organization of volunteer fire-fighters to be trained for emergenies was suggested by T. D. Watson of 333 North Brand boulevard. He called attention to the fact that men organized can be very useful, whereas, unorganized they become merely a mob.

"I think it is time," he remarked, "that Glendale and the surround-country wake up to what may happen tomorrow."

The electric signs at the entrances to Glendale were the objects of considerable discussion.

U. S. TO TAKE PART IN REPARATIONS INQUIRY

[By Associated Press]

PARIS, Dec. 12.—Colonel James A. Logan, America's observer on the reparation commission, officially notified Louis Barthou today that the United States government would view with favor the acceptance by American experts of an invitation to serve on the proposed committees which are to investigate Germany's finances.

Louis Barthou, president of the reparation commission, expressed himself as greatly pleased with the American government's attitude. He invited his colleagues on the commission to talk over with Colonel Logan at luncheon the procedure to be followed in forming the expert committees.

The present idea is that the United States should have two members on the first committee, one of such representatives to be especially qualified to deal with budgetary questions and the other with currency matters. America would have one member, preferably a banker, on the second committee, which is to examine the amount of German capital abroad. General Charles G. Dawes, former director of the budget in Washington, is most frequently mentioned as the expert on budgetary problems who might be asked to serve.

YEAR'S COTTON CROP OVER TEN MILLION

[By Associated Press]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—This year's cotton crop was estimated today at 10,081,000 bales by the department of agriculture.

The estimated production by states, in 500-pound gross bales, includes Texas, 4,290,000; California, 49,000 and Arizona, 83,000. About 86,000 bales additional to California are being grown in Lower California, Old Mexico.

GLENDALE HIGH HAS WONDER ORCHESTRA

Gets Better Year by Year Is Comment of Leader

Glendale Union High school has reason to be proud of its orchestra which will take a prominent part tomorrow and Friday night at the presentation in the new High school auditorium of the annual Variety Show.

"I certainly am proud of our orchestra," admitted Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, head of the music department, this morning. "Each year I think we can't possibly ever have another orchestra quite so good as the past ones, but the young people nowadays are quite wonderful."

"Celestial Music" is the title of an oriental fantasy by Lucius Hosmer, descriptive of a Chinese wedding procession, which will be played by the orchestra. Thomas Woods, Jr. will be the director. Members of the orchestra will be attired as mandarins.

The overture will be "Black Diamond" by Gruenwald and the exit march will be Chambers' "Columbia Forever."

First violins—Thomas Woods, Jr., Lucille Allen, Bertha Brown, Lillian Sutton, Leone Percy, Mabel Elzey, Sylvia Shaver, Emmett Steere, Earleen Kennedy, Katherine James and Mary Stewart.

Second violins—Mary Agnes Cobb, Archie Neel, Reed Steerman, Milo Sherrick, Charles Aney, Lucile Hinze, Muriel Titus, Leroy Teepe and Harold Massey.

Other instruments—Marjorie Potts and Elizabeth Crosson, cellos; Ruth Goldsborogh, bass; Wilhelmina Koethen, piano; Paul Johanson and John Scribner, clarinets; Beatrice Sutton and Burton

KENNETH PAUNELL IS ARRESTED AT RIVERSIDE

Kenneth Paunell, who is charged with robbing the house of a friend of his, Ed Grant, in the Reed auto camp grounds, has been arrested in Riverside and turned over to the Burbank police and is in jail pending his trial. He admitted the robbery, according to the police, and stated that he had taken $50 in traveling checks, three $5 bills, one $5 gold piece, one suit case and one blue suit. He left a letter for his friend at the time of the robbery which reads as follows:

"Dear Ed: I am playing you a dirty trick, but if you knew the circumstances of it you would not kick. I lied to you the other night when I said I went to Los. I was within two blocks of here with a girl I knew for a long time. We are going to Oregon to get married. Give me five days and I will be back with everything I took and I will pay you a good price too, for the use of it—if the car don't break down. We are going to take it. God knows I hate to do this, but it is the only way out for I always did want this girl, and while I got the chance I'm going to take it. Her old man might want to put me over the road, but his wife is behind me and thinks it is safe. If it is, we will be sitting pretty, for he is a contractor himself. He offered to give me a job, but woludn't take it on account of this. Will see you in five days with my wife. Signed — Kenneth Paunell and Rachel Perry."

He told the police that he had got as far as San Diego and the girl jilted him. His trial will come up in a few days.

FALLS FROM TRUCK AND BREAKS ARM

H. H. Goehler of Los Angeles was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium hospital about 2 o'clock this afternoon after he had broken his left arm in a fall from a truck. The accident occurred on Colorado street near San Fernando road.

SEAPLANES SEARCH FOR MISSING MEN

SAN PEDRO, Dec. 12. — Seaplanes this afternoon joined in the search for eight chief petty officers of the navy, two civilians and 10-year-old boy, who are believed to have been lost or driven ashore on the bleak shores of San Clemente island.

The party left here last Friday for a hunting trip on the island and was due back Sunday. Naval officers did not become alarmed until today when the commanding officer of the U. S. S. Procyon asked for assistance from the commander-in-chief. The tug King Fisher was immediately ordered out. Shortly after noon a naval seaplane and a plane chartered by friends of the missing men, hopped off to join in the search.

CLEVELAND GETS NAT'L. CONVENTION OF REPUBLICANS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The republican national convention of 1924 will assemble in Cleveland on June 10 and its delegate strength will be apportioned virtually on the old time basis of full representation for the south as well as the north.

A carefully drafted plan to curtail the voting power of those southern states which belong to the democratic solid south was overturned today by the national committee.

The committee also decided to recommend to the 1924 convention that women be given an equal status with men as committee members and that one man and one woman from each state be chosen to serve on a basis of parity as national committeemen.

GLENDALE REALTY BOARD TALKS SEWER

The proposed sewer for Glendale was explained in its every detail to the members of the Glendale realty board at the weekly luncheon of that organization served at the Glendale Tavern at noon today. Chester Smith, of the engineering firm of Burns & McDonnell, which is designing the proposed sewer, City Manager Reeves and Councilman Davis covered the various phases of the matter. The addresses were arranged for by the special sewer bond committee of the board in order that the members might be enlightened in the various features of the issue.

Another special sewer committee was appointed which will represent the board in connection with the combined sewer committee that is working on this matter. This committee consists of L. H. Wilson, C. W. Ingledue, Peter Hanson and W. L. Twining.

The attitude of the board members present was that the sewer bonds absolutely must be voted and that nothing must be left undone to put the matter over.

Glenn Willamian, secretary of the California State Real Estate association, was present, and made a plea for greater loyalty to the state organization and complimented the Glendale board on its activity.

S. S. Gilhuly, chairman of the social committee, suggested that the annual banquet of the board be held on January 15, and the board members voted to adopt the suggestion.

It was decided to meet hereafter at the Egyptian Village cafe in a room that has been especially prepared for the board.

President Peter Hanson reported that the board will hold a general jubilee on the day that the building permits in Glendale pass the $10,000,000 mark. It is hoped to have 500 automobiles in this parade with banners, fireworks, etc. The slogan for the day will be, "Building permits in 1923, $10,000,000. Vote sewer bonds and double permits in 1924."

KRUG WOULD SELL HIS ENTIRE BALL CLUB

[By Associated Press]

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Marty Krug, manager of the Pacific Coast league club at Los Angeles, today asked waivers on 14 of his players. He said he had some offers in response which probably would terminate in trades.

BUSY MEETING EAGLE ROCK C. OF C.

Sewers, Good Roads and Yellow Car Line Service Discussed

The monthly meeting of the Eagle Rock chamber of commerce was held in the Central school auditorium last night. The first thing to be brought up was the sewer question. The cost will be two dollars and a half per front foot. The city engineers are now working on the main sewer. The one on Colorado will have to go rather deep, but the cost will be more or less evenly distributed. One main sewer will be above Sycamore and the other on Stanley.

The publicity committee was reported for by Mr. Warren. He brought up the work that is being done on the new booklet or little folder, which will be used to advertise Eagle Rock in the future. Five hundred dollars has been appropriated for this work, and 10,000 copies will in all probability be ordered.

Art designs have been asked for and everyone is asked to contribute, as the best ones will go in the folder. A picture with little kiddies playing on the lawn or dad smoking his pipe contenedly on the front porch, with some one getting in or out of a machine is desired most of all. Dahlias, too, should not be forgotten, with the hills as a beautiful background. A prize will be offered for the best essay on the selling of Eagle Rock. It must not exceed 500 words. The idea of the folder is to get something we are not ashamed of that will advertise Eagle Rock. It will give pictures of the schools, churches, college, public buildings

Just Off the Wire From Here and There

[By Associated Press]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 12.—News has reached the capital that plans are under way for merging the Union Trust company of San Francisco and the Wells Fargo Nevada National Bank of that city into an institution with combined assets totalling over $133,000,000. Attorneys for the two institutions, which are among the largest banking establishments in California, have conferred with officials of Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan's office relative to filing articles of incorporation preliminary to consolidating the banks. The records of the state board of equalization show the assets of the Wells Fargo Nevada National Bank total $90,210,597 and those of the Union Trust company to be $43,205,874.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Dec. 12. Fire said to have started in the Boston Department Store threatened the business district here today. Virtually all of the fire apparatus in the city was called out and early reports indicated that persons were trapped in some of the flaming stores.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—There will be nearly 1,100 delegates in the 1924 republican convention committee compared with 984 in 1920 under a resolution adopted today by the republican national committee, virtually restoring the old representation of southern states.

BURBANK CHURCH LADIES INVITE YOU

The Woman's club of the First Congregational church wishes to extend a special invitation to the new residents of Burbank to attend the social evening at the Thomas Edison school auditorium Thursday December 13, at 8 o'clock. A most excellent program has been prepared and a pleasant evening is promised.

Glendale's Sewer

EXPERT INFORMATION FURNISHED DAILY ON THIS GREAT PROJECT

(In this column will appear from day to day, comments on the sewer project, which is the biggest thing that has ever confronted the citizens of Glendale, also articles prepared by the publicity committee of the sewer committee of the chamber of commerce which may be considered as expert information.)

THE AGREEMENT BETWEEN GLENDALE AND LOS ANGELES

This is the fifth of a series of articles discussing the agreement between Glendale and Los Angeles relative to the disposal of sewage from Glendale through the sewers of Los Angeles. Section eight of the agreement follows:

"Section VIII—Said party of the second part further agrees to pay to the said party of the first part at the end of each fiscal year, its proportion of the annual cost of the maintenance of the outfall sewer and treatment and disposal plants of said party of the first part, and in addition thereto its proportion of the cost of the repair, upkeep, maintenance, reconstruction and renewal of the said sewer to be constructed under the terms and conditions of this agreement; said portion of such cost to be paid by the said party of the second part to be estimated and determined according to the ratio of the sewage flow of said city of Glendale to the entire sewage flow from all sources discharged into and carried by the outfall sewer of the said party of the first part."

After the proposed sewer is constructed there will probably be little occasion to refer to any section of the agreement except section VIII. Section VIII defines the manner in which Glendale is to pay its share of the operating costs of the sewage disposal plant at Hyperion and its share of the maintenance of the outfall sewers. The disposal plant at Hyperion being built by Los Angeles is a screening plant of a very efficient type. The cost of treating sewage at this plant will not exceed $1.50 per million gallons.

The maintenance of the Los Angeles outfall sewer and the Glendale outafll sewer should be very small for a number of years. The velocity of flow in both sewers is high enough to render them self-cleansing even when the discharge is very small. The types of construction are such as will withstand acid action and thus reduce repairs to a minimum.

Attention is called to the fact that Glendale's share of these operating and maintenance costs is based upon the exact use which Glendale makes of this plant and the outfall lines, namely: upon the amount of sewage Glendale actually contributes. Could any other arrangement be more fair?

The probable cost during the early life of the sewers will not exceed $2500 per year for the entire city. This estimate is made on the best information that is available at present. As the sewage flow increases the disposal cost will increase, but the maintenance costs will always be small because of the permanent nature of the proposed construction work.

Robert A. Brackett, realty operator, 213 West Broadway:

"It is a shame Glendale has no sewers and the sooner they are secured the sooner the city will advance commercially and otherwise.

"I will vote as many times for the sewers as I can before I am knocked out, as I am anxious to see the bonds carry. I think they will go over if the people get out and boost. If they are not voted there is something the matter with the people of Glendale—they will prove that they are concrete from the shoulders up."

OIL POLLUTION MENACES SHIPPING

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 12.—Oil pollution of navigable and coastal waters and seaports of the entire world menaces shipping and the food supply of the sea, the properties of land and the health of the people, David Newberger, New York, president of the National Coast Anti-Pollution League of America, declared today before the convention of the American Association of Port Authorities.

Mr. Blink—"We don't know. Me and me wife took the powder between us and we went straight off to slape."

WALL POCKET FOR FLOWERS

A wall pocket of green wicker lined with tin is just the thing for growing ivy. The pocket is triangular in shape and could be used for cut flowers as well.

WEEK-END PROGRAMS AT SOUTHWEST MUSEUM

The program for the children "at home" next Saturday morning at the Southwest museum, will include several numbers of classical dancing by the Page School for Girls, neighbors of the museum.

"Iroquois Camp Fire Stories" and "Pink and White Houses of the Sea," illustrated with museum specimens, are the stories to be told by M. Barbara Dacier.

A sketch of the life and work of Oliver Wendell Holmes with a showing of the "Hub of the Solar System," will be the educational film to be shown.

Special notice—Veterans of the "California hut" will hold a special exhibition of articles made by them that are of interest to children and their parents. The exhibit will be displayed in the history hall of the Southwest museum and is to open December 15.

Sunday program, December 16, at 3:00 p. m.—Dr. Charles L. Edwards, head of the nature study department, Los Angeles public schools, and well known lecturer, will speak at the Southwest museum next Sunday afternoon, December 16, at 3 o'clock. The subject, which is an illustrated one, will be "The Depth of the Sea."

Through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Girard of Glendale, a special musical program will also be given. Harry Girard, as every one knows, has accomplished much in the development of musical centers in Los Angeles and is director of music and organist at the Hotel Ambassador. Mr. and Mrs. Girard expect to do considerable concert and recital work this winter.

Public cordially invited to visit the special exhibit of sculpture now being held and to attend both the lecture and musical program.

GREAT REDUCTION SALE NOW ON AT M. & L. BOOTERY

Messrs. McClellan and Long, proprietors of the M. & L. Bootery, 116-A South Brand boulevard, have just launched a monster stock-reducing sale, the entire line of high grade ladies' footwear to be reduced in order to make room for their new stock of children's shoes. This is one of the greatest sales of its kind in the city, the entire stock being offered at smart reductions in price.

Included in the sale are many of the latest styles, including several new importations recently received from Paris. New strap effects, with the latest design, pumps, in black, tan, and all the desired shades are offered, and the stock should not last long at the prices which are quoted elsewhere in an ad.

A full line of high grade hosiery is also carried, and this too goes on sale at reduced prices. The new stock of children's shoes will be the highest in quality, and the prices will be consistent with the high grades of shoes carried.

COAST-TO-COAST ARMY STORE HAS BIG LOT BLANKETS

S. D. GOLDSMITH

The Coast to Coast Army store, located at 145 South Brand is receiving a mammoth shipment of blankets this week that are being placed on sale at very low prices. New goods are being received every day for the holiday trade and extra help has been employed to take care of Christmas business.

S. D. Goldsmith, the proprietor, says, "I certainly appreciate the splendid business given our store since opening here, and we are making prices on good merchandise that should have a strong pulling power. Our increasing business has proved that the people like our store.

EDITORIALS BY THE PEOPLE

Mr. Thos. W. Watson, Editor
Glendale Press,
North Brand Blvd.,
Glendale, Calif.
Dear Sir:

I was very much pleased to read your editorial comment in the Press for Saturday, December 8. It certainly was to the point and plainly stated a condition which is in very serious need of correction.

I am a member of an organization in Los Angeles which for some time has been trying to work out a plan that would make it possible for us to bring this matter to the attention of the powers at Washington so that some relief might be had.

There is no doubt in my mind but what the public is entitled to better service on first-class mail. I am informed by those interested in the reduction in the rate of first-class postage that there is a large profit to the government in the handling of first-class mail and this profit is converted to the handling of other mail. While I do not believe it is necessary to reduce the postage on letters, I certainly do feel that we are entitled to better service. If the express companies or other private corporations insisted on giving such poor service as the postoffice seems to have inaugurated there would certainly be much protest and many investigations.

As the postal service is so vitally connected with our every-day life, both private and business, I believe now is a good time to institute a campaign for better postal service regardless of cost.

Very truly yours,
W. D. KEITH.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

The local fire truck with H. S. Bissell, C. Jennings Young, fire wardens, and many other La Crescenta folk, joined the throng of fire fighters in the Verdugo hills on Monday evening. Mr. Bissell spent a greater part of yesterday on the scene, returning him several times during the day for food for the men fighting the flames. Mr. Young, in charge of 100 men from Glendale and La Crescenta, worked all last night to check the flames. The view from La Crescenta when the flames almost reached the top of the Verdugo hills was very spectacular but most alarming on account of the high winds. M. S. Collins, the newly elected president of the La Crescenta Improvement association, is endeavoring to formulate some plan by which every resident of the La Crescenta valley will assist in the upkeep of the local fire department. The many fires occurring in the La Crescenta valley and the neighboring districts should demonstrate to all residents of the La Crescenta valley the necessity of cooperation if for no other reason than the protection of their own home.

Extensive preparations are being made for the community Christmas tree and entertainment at the school auditorium, Tuesday evening, December 18. The "Toy Shop," a little playlet, will be given by the lower grades, which includes the Montrose school as well as La Crescenta. The upper grades, under the direction of Miss Isabella King, will sing Christmas carols. One of the pleasing features of the entertainment will be a play presented by Miss Agnes Rasmussen's pupils. The entertainment is under the supervision of the local P.-T. A. and a cordial invitation is extended to all residents of the valley. During the afternoon the instructors will entertain their pupils in their rooms.

PERSONAL AND LOCAL ITEMS

Mrs. Carrie Currier who has been a guest of Mrs. A. R. Hildreth of 217 Milford street has returned to her home in Santa Monica, after a week's visit.

Mr. S. L. Gillan of 203 West Maple street has been in Lancaster for a few days on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. HoHand of 518 Kenneth road spent the week-end at their Manhattan Beach cottage. Their nephew, Mr. James Dorsey, recently of the U. S. navy, is now with them, and expects to remain here in Glendale.

Mrs. J. W. Garner of 604 North Louise street has had as her house guest Mrs. Fremont King of Tacoma, Wash. Mrs. King, Mrs. Charles Lennox and Mr. Pasquin Bradfield motored down from the beautiful northern state.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kingsley and daughter, Marybeth, have returned to Glendale after a year's residence at San Diego. At the present time they are making their home with Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kingsley, Sr., on Palm drive.

Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Smart of 110 Olive street are pleasantly favored by the coming of their two daughters, Mrs. A. H. Schweizer and Mrs. C. S. Iredale, from Chicago, on account of their father's serious accident. Rev. Smart is still in the Glendale Sanitarium hospital. He is slowly gaining and there are hopes for his ultimate recovery.

Mrs. C. M. Kidd, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. A. H. Koverman, of 915 East Lomita avenue for the past two months, has just recently returned to her home in Pittsburgh, Pa. Olthough this was Mrs. Kidd's first visit to California, she says that it will not be her last, for she, like everyone else, cannot resist the lure of the Southland when once she basks in its golden sunshine. Mrs. Kidd will return in a few months, she says.

Gould H. Warren, formerly with the Standard Oil company, has gone into E. G. Warren's real estate office at 300½ South Brand boulevard as a salesman. His many friends and acquaintances will remember him as service station salesman at the corner of Brand and Doran and will no doubt be glad to know of his advent into the real estate field. "Warren," as his friends know him, got off to an early start by making his first commission within 48 hours after leaving the oil company and going into the real estate business.

MONTROSE NOTES

Residents of Montrose are invited to attend the Christmas entertainment to be given in the La Crescenta school auditorium next Tuesday evening at 7:30. The students of the Montrose and Crescenta schools will give the program which will be comprised of three parts, "The Toy Shop," Christmas Carols, and a playlet, "Rugglesses in the Rear." There will be a huge Christmas tree for the kiddies decorated with bright lights and Christmas favors. Candy and sweetmeats will be distributed among the little folk.

Miss Mary Belanger entertained Miss Helen Scully over Sunday at the former's home in Sparr Heights. The two young ladies attended school together in Los Angeles, and are both graduates of the St. Mary's Academy of that city.

One night recently the Misses Winona and Marjorie Neilson were hostesses to a number of their young friends. Dancing formed the evening's diversion. Among those who attended were the Misses Sara Conlen, Janet Culberson, Mary Belanger, and Messrs. Joseph Belanger, Herbert Engle, Walter Naugle and George Jewitt.

The meeting of the Montecito Social club was postponed on account of the high winds. The members will gather for their second meeting on Monday evening, December 17, in the Sparr Heights Community house.

In connection with the dance to be given by the club on the twenty first, the entertainment committee is hard at work making arrangements for music, decorations, etc. The committee is comprised of A. Craft, Mr. Palmer, Leroy E. Miller, T. O. Potts, and C. Jennings Young. Those in charge promise that the affair will be a grand success. Christmas decorations, confetti, serpentine and all the other jolly inventions for festival occasions will be in use.

Mr. Frank B. Turner of Montrose made a quick sale of property the other day when he purchased eight acres in La Canada and sold it the following day. The new owners are C. P. Shammon of Dayton, Ohio, and E. Woltjer of Grand Rapids, Michigan. Mr. Turner also reports the sale of five lots on Verdugo road and also four lots on Michigan boulevard on the corner of Commonwealth avenue. Mr. Raymond Mondon of Glendale purchased the last named property in the hillside region.

The Montrose Athletic club will hold its third meeting Friday evening in the Oakmont riding academy where the club rooms are located. Refreshments will be served. Plans for a dance to be given in the near future will be formulated and other matters of moment will be taken up. Every member of this new and popular club is urged to be on hand.

FISHER'S VARIETY STORE ADDS MUCH ADDITIONAL SPACE

Fisher's Variety store, 212 East Broadway, growing with the rest of Glendale, has just added several hundred extra feet of floor space by taking over the store room adjoining, formerly occupied by Davis' Linoleum shop. This extra addition will be used exclusively as a toy store, and will be the mecca for Glendale kiddies until Christmas.

This action was deemed necessary due to the great increase in business and the crowded condition of the store, the general stock being one of the largest of its kind in the city.

The main store is completely filled with hundreds of bargains in variety goods, and the choice is indeed a large one; all kinds of small articles of furniture, utensils, towels, hardware, games, toys, tinsel, Xmas cards and many other novelties too numerous to mention.

As before stated, the new store will be used for toys exclusively, which will comprise one of the largest stocks of high grade dolls, wagons, trains, etc. in the city.

In the large half page ad appearing in another part of this issue will be found a great many of the values offered. The store will remain open evenings until Christmas, in order to facilitate shopping.

PACIFIC HOME BLDG. CO. PLANS ANOTHER MEETING

Mr. C. C. Ritchey, general manager of the Pacific Home Building Realty company, is so well pleased with the splendid results from the meeting held in the Daily Press hall, Glendale, last Thursday evening, that he has decided to hold another and similar meeting in the Woman's Twentieth Century club house in Eagle Rock on Thursday evening of this week, December 13.

The company proposes to build a large number of houses in every suburb of Los Angeles and furnish them to its patrons on terms that are less than rents at this time. They planned to build at least 100 in Glendale and although the business secured so far does not justify them to that extent, they expect to have the full number made up within a short time.

All those who were unable to be present at the Glendale meeting are invited to be on hand at Eagle Rock Thursday evening.

BIG COMMUNITY CELEBRATION ON CHRISTMAS EVE

At the luncheon meeting of the executive board of Glendale Community Service, held Tuesday noon at the Egyptian Village cafe, report was given by V. M. Hollister, chairman of the Christmas program, and the board recommended that the community Christmas celebration be held on Christmas eve, instead of Christmas night. After consultation with the Christmas committee, it was decided that the program will be held at 7 o'clock Monday night on the high school grounds, instead of Tuesday. This year the children are to bring various articles and gifts, which will be distributed to the needy in Glendale and also to worthy organizations in Los Angeles on Christmas day.

A. L. Baird, newly elected president of Community Service, presided at the board meeting. The executive board is made up of six officers, including Mr. Baird, Mrs. John R. Case, Col. J. D. Fraser, George U. Moyse, Dr. Jesseie Russell and C. C. Cooper, with the following appointees: V. M. Hollister, Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, L. T. Rowley, R. D. White and Rev. C. M. Calderwood. There are two vacancies which have not been filled, chairman of dramatics and chairman of music.

At yesterday's meeting, Mr. Baird officially appointed Mrs. John R. Case as chairman of the social recreation department. R. D. White was reappointed as chairman of the general program committee, to be assisted by the chairmen of the various departments.

PRESIDENT WILL RADIO HARDING MEMORIAL MESSAGE

President Coolidge speaks Monday night, December 10, from 8:30 to 8:45 eastern standard time on the Harding memorial.

The adjutant general has issued an order stopping all government radio messages during the period mentioned.

Our Washington bureau states that the government will appreciate all radio stations standing by, so that those stations which carry the Coolidge address may be listened to with the minimum of interference.

ORATORIO SECTION RESUMES PRACTICE ON ELIJAH

Regular rehearsal meeting of the Oratorio section of the Glendale Music club was held Tuesday night at the High school, when practice was resumed on "Elijah," under the direction of John Smallman. Several new members joined the section at last night's meeting. During intermission Mr. Markey, a member, gave several baritone solos, "Little Woman of Mine," "Macushla" and "Requiem" (Homer).

It was decided that the oratorio section would unite on Monday night for rehearsal of Christmas choruses with the Glendale Choral club. Time will be spent on the "Hallelujah Chorus" and "Lift Up Your Heads," which will be given as part of the community Christmas program. Regular rehearsal of the section will be held next Tuesday at the High school.

Truths in Epigram

No one could endure and overcome solitude, if it were not for the hope of companionship for the future, or for the belief in invisible companionship in the present.—Richter.

If it be my lot to crawl, I will crawl contentedly; if to fly, I will fly with alacrity; but, as long as I can avoid it, I will never be unhappy.—Sydney Smith.

REDEEMING WASTE LANDS

The Brockton, Mass., Times remarks that all over the west there are reclamation projects involving many methods of bringing idle land under cultivation. Congress has been asked to appropriate a large sum for promotion of these plans. Against such appropriation the Brockton paper inveighs with some bitterness.

"That means," it says, "taxing the whole country to build up agriculture in some western states. Such an expenditure is wholly unnecessary and absolutely unwise." It adds this surprising assertion:

"There are here in New England hundreds of thousands of acres of as good land as the sun ever shone on, that need neither drainage nor irrigation to become producing." Surely highly important if true.

New England farmars struggled for generations to wrest livings from the soil. A Vermont Yankee who in early manhood had gone to what is now Iowa and taken up a claim there, was heard to remark in his prosperous old age, that had the settlers of New England realized the existence of such land as he had found, New England would have remained a wilderness. No thought could have occurred that it was worth the attempt to cultivate.

The hundreds upon hundreds of abandoned farms within a few hours' ride of Brockton, in Vermont, New Hampshire and Connecticut, do not argue the presence of "as good land as the sun ever shone on." On the contrary it is stubborn, stoney and sterile, yielding but meager returns at best throughout large areas. Pioneer courage tackled it, and stuck bravely to the task, but newer generations deliberately forsook it. Many of the abandoned holdings are environed by scenic beauty. By liberal expenditure of money they may be changed into ideal summer homes. By intensive cultivation they may be made to give special crops. In certain parts hardy fruits flourish. As a whole this area is farming territory only by courtesy, and the hardest of work.

Moreover the Brockton editor is taking a narrow view. Farming is the basic industry. The success of farming in any part of the United States is a direct contribution to the general prosperity. As New England soil does not grow the smaller grains successfully, nor a merchantable quality of Indian corn, nor any of the semi-tropical fruits, its population surely is gainer when such staples reach the market, no matter whence the staples come. The whole people are taxed for river and harbor improvements, although these are apparently for the benefit of a restricted district. The cotton grower of Imperial valley, and the orange man of Riverside, help pay for the lighthouse of the rocky Atlantic coast. The people of the United States are all in a big partnership.

OPPOSING EDUCATION

W. J. Bryan said recently in New York that he would rather have his boy unable to read and write and honest, than an inmate of a penitentiary, and a scholar.

There is an air of saying something profound, of which Bryan is master. He has used it in the instance cited. He uses it habitually to disguise the fact that he either has uttered nothing but words, or that he has merely formulated a sentiment common to all. It hardly is possible that Bryan thought of himself as the brave and solitary father in all the land to whom the experience of having a son in the penitentiary would be painful. Any father would rather that a son be ignorant, and most fathers, that a son be dead.

The reader is left to infer that the unlettered boy has the better chance of being honest. There is an implied slap at education. In a succeeding sentence Bryan administers another rebuke to knowledge, thus:

"When I first opposed evolution I was told by a minister that a thinking man could not agree with me. I said to him that only 2 per cent of the population were college graduates and that there were 98 per cent that still had souls."

To oppose evolution is to take a position with Ajax in his celebrated role of defying the lightning. No finer nor more useless valor ever inspired Don Quixote. In the same address Bryan said the time had come to choose between geology and Christianity. The mental process by which the demonstrated facts of science are to be cast aside, he neglected to describe. The conflict between moral and physical truths, he fails to make clear. Why not accept both geology and Christianity? Why not be both educated and honest?

A FINE EXAMPLE

Miss Aline Barnsdall has given Los Angeles a beautiful park. It is not large in area, but it is most fortunately situated, and nothing more attractive could be found for such purpose. It is not a wild bit of land, but highly cultivated. It had been laid out artistically by the owner, and its adornments are all indicative of fine taste. The value of the tract may be set down modestly at a million dollars. As a matter of fact, as serving the purpose to which it now is dedicated, it becomes priceless.

Much has been said of the need of municipal parks. There is no danger that concerning the subject too much ever will be said. A belief in parks needs to be drilled into the urban understanding, for on it depends the gracious and comely development of cities, the health and happiness of the dwellers therein. Parks also serve as protections against fire. They are playgrounds, breathing places, havens of rest.

Perhaps it is not too much to hope that the splendid gift of Miss Barnsdall shall serve as the inspiration to others. There are many persons of means who desire to do something for the community in which they live. The donation of a park or a park site would be appreciated always. It would be a lasting benefit increasing in usefulness as the years pass. Cities must have parks. Almost every municipality neglects its own interests in this respect. It is for the broad-minded and generous individual to offset the effects of this error.

THE KIDNAPING THAT FAILED

The men accused of attempting to kidnap Bergdoll, with the purpose of getting him within jurisdiction of the United States military authorities, were found guilty by the German court. Nothing else had been expected, for regardless of the motive that had actuated them, they were guilty. The treatment of the American who had led in execution of the plan, apparently gave not the slightest ground for complaint. The attitude of the court towards him was not severe, and neither was the penalty. A short term of imprisonment was fixed for the principal, together with a fine of two trillion marks. Probably nobody has taken the trouble to figure out the equivalent in United States coin of this number of marks. The judge allowed the time of detention prior to the trial, to count as part of the term. He even went so far as to compliment the American on his patriotism, and to hint that parole at an early day was not unlikely.

Naturally there is hope that Bergdoll shall be captured and made to pay the penalty that has hung over him for several years. But it hardly is worth while for Americans to risk their liberty in the effort to bring him back. The fact that he wants to come, but dares not, but must remain in a land that presents few attractions, is a sort of punishment. Should his stay be prolonged indefinitely Bergdoll yet might come to the conclusion that an American jail possesses attractions greater than are to be found in exile.

"ANGEL CHILDREN"

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Edward L. Bradley, director of Allendale Farm for Boys, at Lake Villa, Ill., has made an epochal discovery, which is simply that if boys are permitted to be normal they will behave themselves as well as boys in more fortunate positions in life.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

It's curious how afraid we are of normal things. In the abstract when we speak of men we refer to them admiringly as "red blooded"; but when we are rearing boys we think of them as developing into white robed angels such as we used to see pictured in the family Bible hovering over young children and rocky tombs.

Now about the best way to make a healthy boy take to the tall timbers is to attempt to make him into a conventional angel. Odd that it should take Mr. Bradley to discover this self evident fact.

Normal boys in homes of all classes commit pecadillees, lie a little now and then, yell when the spirit moves them and otherwise function as boys should and nobody thinks such manifestations are grave indications of degeneracy.

But once let a boy or girl get inside the walls of a school of correction and he is inspected daily to see how his wings are coming along, and any teacher or reformer who seriously believes that a boy can sprout wings in this world belongs in the permanent ward of the state insane asylum.

Naturally anybody who teaches boys must expect now and then to come on a rough house. When this happens in an old fashioned school the method has been to "break the boy" which means to kill his spirit after which you had as well finish the job and kill the boy, for he will never be any good again.

At the Allendale Farm they hand the recalcitrant youth over to his fellow students, which means to his equals, to be dealt with as an equal. The records show that in ninety-nine out of 100 cases the plan works.

We will always stand more from our equals than we will from somebody who represents an external force. The boys at Allendale say to the unruly members:

"You are a part of the student body and if you misbehave it reflects on all of us. Either you behave or we throw you out."

Even a bad boy does not readily face ostracism, and ostracism after all is the normal punishment for infraction of rules in any normal society.

Our trouble is that we seldom or never ostracise.

Anyhow, since we can't be angels, why not give up trying and allow boys, girls and other humans to be normal?

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

This morning I received a letter from my dear old Mother. Filled with reproach. Ordinarily her sense of humor is as active as a cat, but now and then it slips.

"Don't say that I'm gambling," she begged.

These are the facts. She lives in California, where the price of real estate seems to go only in one direction. Therefore, like a wise woman, she buys a lot now and then. She has always sold at a profit. The time may come when the price will go the other way and she will sell at a loss, but in the meantime she is on Easy Street.

"It is not even speculative," she insists. "I do not like that word. But especially I insist that I am not gambling."

The dear old girl, like a good many others of us, is frightened by words. Speculation is the very lifeblood of this world. The moment we cease to speculate the blessed old globe cease whirling. speculate the blessed old globe ceases whirling. every carload of machinery and operates every typewriter. If we did not believe that our activities would yield us a profit we would not be active. Or else would find another field—in which we would go on speculating. Speculation is merely the polite word for gambling. Gambling is considered low because it is sometimes done by roulette wheels and dice and cards instead of by corner lots and oil wells.

Odd, come to think of it, how many bugaboo words there are in life. We instinctively shy from a grass widow. Yet she may be a superb woman who has refused to put up longer with a no-account, drunken, abusive, hen-witted husband. A friend may go to a sanitarium—or is it sanatorium?—for a rest and we think the more of him. He knew what to do. But if he is unlucky and goes to an asylum we always remember that in such and such a year he "went crazy." He didn't. His nerves merely got a bickering and he laid off for a rest. We jib at the name.

"I think the gamblers are the finest people in the world," I wrote to mother. "They are the salt of the earth. The yeast that makes civilization rise. More power to them, and to you. Gamble on!"

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

Now is a good time to forget it.

A little girl said one time that memory was given us to forget with.

And there is a lot of truth in that.

JAMES W. FOLEY

Memory it seems has two purposes.

To remember with.

And to forget with.

* * *

The friendliness and the pleasure and the bright eyes and smiling faces.

Those things that are like flowers along the way of life.

Brightening the way.

* * *

For the world in most things has been good.

Friends in most instances have been kindly.

The days have been more sunny than clouded.

There has been more of sunshine than of rain.

The year has had more of joy than of sorrow.

* * *

These are the things to remember.

The memory of them softens and makes tender.

Fills the eyes with gentle tears.

The memory of the glad things.

* * *

The gifts of life are many.

And most of them kind.

We should return them in kind.

And the sorrows of life are comparatively few.

And we can forget them.

* * *

Let us store up the memory of our blessings.

Place them in a casket of remembrance.

Where we can look at them often.

And be glad for them.

The friend who was true.

The flower that was bright with blossom and sweet with fragrance.

That day when the sun shone brightly.

And we walked out under the blue sky.

* * *

And the harsh and bitter things.

Let us forget them.

For if we forget them we do not have to forgive them.

The difficulty with forgiven things is that the memory of them continually recurs and we have to forgive them over again.

And with forgotten things there is no recurrence.

* * *

Now is a good time to forget.

The harshness.

The misunderstanding.

The bitter word.

The heat and haste of speech.

The injustice.

* * *

Get them out of the mind.

For they stand in the way of grace and sweetness.

They make bitter what should be sweet.

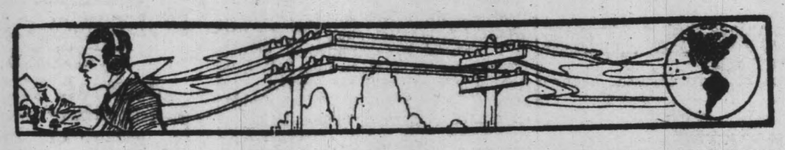
They make harsh what should be gentle.

They lead us by evil ways and dark swamps and into pitfalls of anger.

* * *

To hold fast to the memory of the good.

To forget the evil.



Songs of the Poets

Patriotism—By Sir Walter Scott

(1. Innominatus)

Breathes there the man with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
"This is my own, my native land!"
Whose heart hath ne'er within him burn'd
As home his footsteps he hath turn'd
From wandering on a foreign strand?
If such there breathe, go, mark him well;
For him no Minstrel raptures swell;
High though his titles, proud his name,
Boundless his wealth as wish can claim;
Despite those titles, power, and pelf,
The wretch, concentered all in self,
Living, shall forfeit fair renown,
And, doubly dying, shall go down
To the vile dust from whence he sprung,
Unwept, unhonour'd, and unsung.

THE SLOWNESS OF PROGRESS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

FAR be it from me to intimate that the reformer should not tear his shirt, the patriot leap to the occasion, and the propagandist foam and consume his soul.

One cannot help admiring campaigns and campaigners. And nothing is to be said why sentence of death by torture should not be pronounced upon the whittler, the loafer and the conservative.

And yet looking back over the history of this terrestrial globe, the story of its rocks and plants as well as of its men, one is impressed by the fact that progress is a matter of very slow growth; so slow in fact that at any given period the most significant changes that were going on were those that were so still and gradual that those present were not conscious of them, and were perhaps occupied with strenuous reforms that really meant nothing at all.

Imperceptibly, as a rule, so the geologists tell us, the glaciers slid down over the forest lands, seas changed their beds, and mountains rose. Of course there were occasional cataclysms.

The growth of the race, in its intellectual life and in its moral sense, has this same age-long ponderosity.

Still, as I said, I will subscribe to the campaign fund.

I will also wish well to, if I cannot join the various leagues to do the various and sundry things that are shrieking to be done.

But just the same, I know very well that the most important things that are going on in this world are things that we know very little about, things that are moving by subterranean forces which lie beneath all human will and all organized effort.

I not only believe in evolution in the past, but that we are at present in a phase of evolution and that most of the good that shall come in the world will be by evolution in the future.

In the matter of religion, in every age it has been vociferously proclaimed that men were hell bent, all faith was dying out, evil was triumphant, and that the car of human progress was bound to go to smash just around the next corner.

On the contrary the world is slowly moving up religiously. People are a lot better than they were in any former age, and the principles of justice, kindness and humanity are more successfully appealed to now than ever before.

In the matter of politics it is much the same. Kingdoms, thrones and governments have gone down, but badly as the world may be ruled today, the people in it are a deal better off, have more liberty and prosperity than ever before.

If an insect whose life was but a day should have contemplated the rosebud, he would have thought it was never going to open, and die in despair.

The pessimist is the worm who contemplates the green apple and groans because in his lifetime it will never ripen.

But the old world is slowly but surely rolling up the grooves of light. There is a good time coming.

And as far as that is concerned, things just now are not so bad.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

PRESIDENT AND 1924

[New Haven Journal-Courier]

Mr. Coolidge is trained to politics and beneath his abysmal quiet is a knowledge of how the wheels go round, yet whether interior Massachusetts wheels are like to those that direct the nation is something of a question. President Harrison was a cold man and General Grant was wholly silent; but they were tremendous figures. Both enjoyed Civil war momentum, the latter was unique and the Indiana statesman confessedly a great lawyer. Mr. Coolidge has the Boston police strike at his back, but one may not go indefinitely on a single prestige. The Washington gossip seems to be that the man must show strength as a doer or at least be a graphic influence on Congress this winter, or be swept aside by the national ferment.

It will be critically interesting this winter to note what reserves this man of Massachusetts has. The spirit of the millions is expectant and sympathetic. The leaders of his party wish him to make good. They will be guided in their plans for next year by the impression President Coolidge makes this winter on the electorate. In epochal times like this the intellectual resources, the national measure and outlook and the power of a President must be asserted beyond all cavil. Scrupulous discharge of office routine is not enough apparently.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

An elderly couple, not decrepit, not rich and yet not impoverished, but alone, sat hand in hand the other day, and passed from life. They had left no note explaining the act, although it became evident that they had been planning the end for some days. The only word they had seen fit to write was as to disposition of their belongings.

HENRY JAMES

The two were found in a gas-filled room; no accident. Every crevice had been stuffed. There had been no violence, and no coercion. They had come a long journey together, and it was their wish that they be together in the last stage of the trip.

"Judge not that ye be not judged." There is none to say what measure of blame rested on these kindly and devoted souls. Perhaps as they looked forward towards the old age that neared them, they were discouraged by the shadows that seemed to lie across the path they visioned. It may be that they saw in fancy the figure of one of them, a solitary figure, going without companionship along the dreary way.

Life is bestowed upon mortal, and with it the duty of making the most and best of it. But when the climax has been reached, and the feet are weary of the hard road, and there is nothing ahead but the hope of rest, there is no harshness in the heart of one who views the laying down of the burden. It is sad, it is tragic, but condemnation dies on the lips.

* * *

They arrested a "Santa Claus" the other day. He was a well-meaning Santa Claus, but there is no denying that he wore a mask. To wear a mask seems to be against the law. People far more vicious than any Santa Claus adding gayety to the holiday toy sales, wear such things, but then they are hard to catch. The store Santa Claus behind his mask, generally is inclined to be fat, and not very young. Moreover he doesn't try to get away.

When laws are on the books, and a set of officials obligated by their oaths to do so, enforce these laws, the recall of the officials does not follow as a logical suggestion. Perhaps it would be wiser to recall the laws.

Not long ago there was a raid on a "spiritualistic temple." When mediums find that to call their business a religion, helps the income, they do not hesitate to don the cloak of sanctity. Doubtless this brings to them a type of sucker that otherwise might escape. When a patron believes that attending fake seances (not advertised as such) is part of the process of saving his soul, he'll be there, and loosen up.

The people arrested in this raid had been caught in the act of perpetrating a crude hoax. Their "materializations," supposed to be of somewhat tenuous ether, turned out to be solid meat and bone quite capable of sustaining the weight of handcuffs.

And all this is the sort of bunk that holds so great a man as Conan Doyle in thrall.

* * *

When the somewhat celebrated Herbert Wilson made a confession just prior to starting to the penitentiary, many thought he was romancing. He confessed not only his own sins, but he distributed a lot of sins around among his former associates. One by one these are being gathered in.

The robberies in which this man had been concerned were of the larger sort, dealing in hundreds of thousands of dollars, and killing anybody who happened to interfere. After all his dark career he seems to have managed to do the public a service.

* * *

Many opinions are expressed as to what should be done with the two boy murderers whose horrid crime was committed a few days ago. It is possible that the perverts cannot be held responsible in the sense that would warrant the extreme penalty. Of course the world would be better off were they dead.

It is necessary to consider the welfare of society rather than that of the lads. The welfare of society necessitates a decision that will keep the pair shut up for the rest of their lives; not in any spirit of revenge, but as a measure of safety. It is not conceivable that either could ever be fit to be at large.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

AS HE IS TOLD

"If he would only do as he is told. I told him to come right home from school and, where is he? I've seen children that would do as they were told, but not mine. He will, if nothing else comes up. He is the most trying child. I wonder what he is up to this afternoon?"

"Oh, maybe he was kept in."

"In school? Not he. He takes very good care to get out early. He has too many plans for the afternoon."

"Then he's probably playing along the road somewhere."

"No. Not that way. He's gone off somewhere to see something, sure as you live. He'll come home about dinner time, puffing as though he had run all the way home and full of a story of what he'd seen. I wanted him to rake up the grass in front of the house. I won't get hold of him until Saturday and then I'll have to begin early or he'll get away."

Just before dinner was served hurried feet were heard on the porch. The door swung open with a swish and closed to with a bang. "There he is. Didn't I tell you?"

"Well," as he appeared at the table, "Where were you?"

"Oh, I went over to Ralph's. He's setting up a new radio and I helped him. You ought to see! We're going to finish it tomorrow. It is so strong I bet we can pick up Los Angeles."

"And I told you to come straight home from school, didn't I?"

"Yes, but you didn't know about the radio and I knew you wouldn't care."

"No?" And I didn't care Monday when you went to see the men load the elephants——"

"Oh, well, mom, I wouldn't get a chance to see elephants loaded on the cars again maybe for ten years."

"No? What makes you think you'll miss it? You haven't so far and it's about six year now, isn't it? And Tuesday you went to watch them try out the new hose on the fire engine——"

"Oh, well, mom——"

"And Wednesday you had to stop and help pull Watson's cow out of the swamp and Thursday you got a hitch out to the Falls to see them launch the new boat. Now suppose you come home once in a while and see what's going on here. I've told you to get those leaves raked up every day this week. But you do nothing you're told."

That sort of boy keeps one jumping, but he has a bright idea. He is the sort that will not have to be told what to do when he is a little older. The intelligent curiosity and the boundless energy behind it will carry him far.

Of course, he must be trained to harness it and that is a very hard job for his mother and teachers, but it is worth while and he is a very worth while lad. You wouldn't trade him for the sleepy, very obedient one down streets, now would you?

SPORT -O- GRAMS

By FRANCIS W. READ

Speaking of the so-called All-American, All-Coast, or All-State mythical football teams, or for that matter any such selection, a Los Angeles writer remarks that these selections do more harm than good and that nobody is ever satisfied with them anyway. We are inclined to agree in this comment, for we have expressed a somewhat similar idea in this column more than once, especially in calling attention to the manner in which those who select these teams ignore certain sections of the country.

Apart, however, from that side of it, there is another phase that makes the selection of such teams dangerous and which has led many to the belief that they do more harm than good. For every man that is picked on a mythical eleven, there are a dozen or so who are really deserving of consideration who must be omitted from mention. Perhaps all of these players are equaly good. Such a thing is entirely conceivable. In that case the person who is picking the team naturally chooses the man that he has seen play and whom he knows something about. This leads to an injustice to the others, who are every bit as good as the man who was picked, but were left off because the man who is making the selection does not know them as well as he knows another. Does not the injustice done to the good men who really deserve places outweigh the good done to the select few who may be no better than they, but are placed on the team?

Then it must be considered that in picking these mythical elevens the individual showing a man makes is all that is used as a basis for selection. It may be that the style of game played by a certain institution does not permit a given man to star, but if the facts were known it would be discovered that he played a better game than anyone on the team. That was the case last year and the year before with "Hobo" Kincaid at U. S. C. That is the case in numerous instances and the men who select these teams are not able to take these things into account. They take into consideration only the sensational individual players. The men who work quietly behind a cloud of the smoke of another player and are in reality the most valuable men of all, get little or no recognition on these teams.

Then there is practically no basis on which to chose these mythical elevens. Most of them are selected by men who live in the east. They have a chance to see the eastern teams play and can form somewhat of an estimate of the various players. As for the men in the west, the only thing they know about them is what they can read in the newspapers and what they can learn by talking to others who have seen them play. Neither of these two methods is such whereby a player's actual worth can be learned and consequently these men do not know the real ability of the western football players. The fact that they place those whom they know and see in action can be demonstrated by reference to a recent selection this season, where out of 33 men picked on three teams five were from Yale, four from Cornell, and only two from any college or university west of the Mississippi. There was one man from California and one from Southern California on the selection.

Now that we have named the disadvantages of these elevens, what are their advantages? Personally, we can see none. Their selection is merely a custom, a time-honored tradition. They serve no useful purpose and no two critics who pick these mythical elevens are able to agree as to who shall be placed. They are not selected in a fair manner—they have become a sectional monopoly for the most part, with nearly every man coming from the east. They cannot take into consideration the factors that should govern the selection of a team and the harm they do to a deserving player by ignoring him far outweigh the good done to the men who are named.

THREE FOOTBALLERS LOST TO U. OF S. C.

When football season opens next fall Elmer Henderson, coach of the University of Southern California, will be minus the services of three of the best men of the crack 1923 Trojan freshman team. Pete Thompson, Jummy Best and Everett McCue, have all decided to leave schoor, and two of them have done so already.

Pete Thompson played a consistent game at tackle for the Trojan Babes while Jimmy McCue was holding down an end berth. Thompson has been signed by the Cleveland Americans. He will leave school to join them when they start practice in the spring.

Pete has been playing semi-pro ball around Los Angeles as well as with the Lincoln high school and U. S. C. freshman ball teams for the last five years and was signed lately by the Indians. McCue is leaving school to go to work, as is Evert Best.

Best played guard on the frosh and hails from Santa Ana. He is working in his home town now. McCue is a former Lincoln high school star, captaining the football team and playing on the baseball squad. These men will be a great loss to the teams of the Trojan institution and will be missed by Coach Henderson when practice starts next fall.

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS FOR 1924 AT GLENDALE HIGH ARE EXCEEDINGLY BRIGHT

Only Five Vets Graduate; Horri, Howard Elliot, West, Walton and Brucker Have Played Last Game for Glendale

Football has come and gone, and the gridiron season of 1923 goes down as the greatest in the history of Glendale high school. Not only did the Dynamiters win the championship of the Central league, but they worked themselves up to the final game for the Southern California championship and lost to Long Beach after a hard-fought battle, outplaying the Jackrabbits for all but the first six minutes of the game, during which Long Beach put over their two touchdowns. A record of twelve games without a loss was made by the Black and Red gridders, before their defeat, and but 25 points were scored upon them during the entire season.

After such a successful year, the thoughts of the football fans turn to the prospects for the coming season. What kind of a team, they ask, will Glendale have next year? What are the chances of the Dynamiters for repeating their phenomenal performance in 1924? To these inquiring ones, we would answer that prospects for Glendale high school on the gridiron in 1924 are exceedingly bright. But five of the first string men will be lost to Coach Hayhurst by graduation. The rest of the team will be back on the job, with the addition of a number of men who will emerge from the ranks of the class B team and the reserves.

The first string men who have played their last game for Glendale are Howard Elliot, fullback; Cyril Walton, halfback; Captain Ronald West, halfback, Missaro Horii, end, and Angelo Brucker, guard. Among the substitutes who graduate are Bradner and Carver, ends; Gingery, quarterback; Weaver, Offut, Dietrich and Murphy, linesmen. The loss of these men will be severely felt by the team. Every one has played fine football this year, and three of them, Elliot, Horii and Walton, have been mentioned as candidates for the mythicall all-state prep team.

Keen as the loss of these men may be felt, there is an intense spirit of optimism at the high school for the prospects in 1924. Under the leadership of Captain-elect Ryan, the Dynamiters have a wonderful chance of winning the southland title next season. In the backfield there will be two of the men from this year's team, Captain Ryan at half and Bud Elliot at quarter. Ryan has played a good consistent game this year and should prove a whiz next season. Bud Elliot, who has called signals in every game, is rated as one of the brainiest prep quarterbacks in the south, and is fast on his feet and ever on the alert for anything that may happen. Then as a possibility to fill the shoes of Howard Elliot at full there is Charles Lundy. Lundy has shown himself to have some real class and undoubtedly will give all other aspirants for the job of fullback a real race. He is fast on his feet and can kick and pass in great fashion. Then Johnny Lovell, fullback of the lightweight squad this season, stands a good chance to make either full or the other halfback position. He can kick, run and receive passes in great style. The exhibition Marion Morrison pulled off with his toe when he was called back to punt after Howard Elliot had been taken from Saturday's game gives us a faint idea that Marion might be used in the backfield next year. There are other backfield candidates, but these seem to be the outstanding ones.

The line of this year will be almost intact next season. With the exception of Horii and Brucker the entire line will be back. This leaves one end position and one guard berth to be fiilled. It looks like Cary Denney should stand a good chance of copping Horii's place. He has gone in several games as a substitute this season and is speedy and a hard hitter. There will probably be a raft of material out for Brucker's place, and from the looks of those who should emerge from the ranks of the subs and lightweights, every bit of it will be good. Phillips and Dotson will be back on the job as tackles, with Zaun at center, Morrison at his guard berth and Les Lavelle at his usual wing position. Then there is Fish, who appeared quite promising early in the season, but was prevented from playing because of injuries.

What could look more promising for next season? In addition to the men mentioned as possibilities, there are many men who have played in the ranks of the lightweights or subs who are as yet unknown quantities, but who may turn out to be real finds. Then at the opening of each season there are always some dark horses who come out and surprise every one. From glancing through these possibilities it appears that Glendale should make another bid for the Southern California championship in 1924. Coached by Normal C. Hayhurst, the Dynamiters should be one of the strongest, if not the strongest, prep elevens in the state. They will be considerably heavier than this year, and every bit as fast and brainy. Yes, it looks like 1924 should be another banner year for the Black and Red gridders.

LONG BEACH PLAYS BAKERSFIELD ON SATURDAY

Long Beach high school, champion of Southern California by reason of a 15 to 8 victory over Glendale, will meet the Bakersfield high gridders Saturday at Bakersfield in the semi-finals for the state title. At the same time Lodi high school plays Lick-Welmerding for the northern championship, and the winners of the two games meet a week later to determine the state title. Bakersfield is champion of Central California.

Long Beach stepped into the semi-final round by defeating Glendale, 15 to 8, last Saturday at the Coliseum. They did not impress one as have some of the great Jackrabbit teams of the past. The speed and dash of past years and the sweeping interference for which they were noted was lacking. It was only their clock-like drive in the opening minutes of the game and the individual brilliancy of a couple of their players that enabled them to wrest the victory from the scrappy little Glendale team.

Morley Drury, the big beach fullback, whose line plunging made possible the two Long Beach touchdowns, has a few sore ribs that will keep him out of stiff practice for a couple of days but by the time Saturday rolls around he should be as fit as the proverbial fiddle. The rest of the squad came through in fine shape.

Bakersfield's 27 to 0 victory over Fresno was much more impressive and clear cut than was the Long Beach win down here. The Driller backs ripped the Fresno line to shreds and marched down the field for three touchdowns in the opening period. After that they took things easy, content to save their energy for the Jackrabbit game, but in the final quarter a snappy rally brought them their fourth touchdown.

Halfback Caldwell showed up extremely well and the valley critics hail him as one of the greatest backs who ever pulled a Bakersfield jersey over a pair of shoulder pads. Fresno could not stop him on his bucks through the center of their line and his punting kept the Raisin Growers at a safe distance from the goal at all times.

Cummings looked good at the other half and it was his work that gave the drillers their final score. Hansen, at center, blocked a Fresno punt which resulted in a touchdown and made himself continually annoying to the opposition by his defensive work.

Coach Griffith is assisted by Len Cranmer, former member of Andy Smith's Golden Bears when they were at the pinnacle of their success. The Bakersfield mentors have developed an attack patterned after the California offensive. They have the punter in Caldewell and the punch in the backfield to shove over a touchdown when a break puts them within scoring distance of the goal, so it works out rather well.

To tell the truth, the outlook is rather dark for Long Beach and the Jackrabbits will have to be a much improved team over what they were last Saturday if they hope to win their way over Bakersfield into the finals for the state title.

PIPAL RESIGNS AS OXY FOOTBALL MENTOR

Joseph Pipal, who for the last three years has been football coach at Occidental College, will not be at the helm of the pigskin sport at that institution next year. He has announced that he will devote his entire time to track and physical education work there beginning immediately.

Pipal will take a team to the Penn Relays, after which he will tour the east, studying modern gymnasium equipment, construction and methods of training. Upon his return a new gym will be constructed at Occidental. No successor to Pipal as football coach has been named.

"Occidental is anxious to develop a department of physical education," said President Bird. "We believe that this is one of the tasks of the smaller colleges—to build up the majority, not a few star athletes. There is much need for corrective education, and Coach Pipal is peculiarly fitted to do this sort of work."

HARRY WILLIAMS' ELECTION RATIFIED

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Harry A. Williams of Los Angeles was recognized as the legally elected president of the Pacific Coast league by the baseball board of arbitration in session here yesterday. For two days previous to the decision, the board had been deadlocked in the matter.

The fight as to the presidency of the league came as the result of the election of Williams at the recent meeting of the league at Catalina, when Williams was elected by a 5 to 3 vote. William McCarthy, who had held the presidency for the preceding term, held that Williams' election was illegal because the Seattle club had not the right to vote. He claimed that William Wrigley, owner of the Los Angeles club and the Chicago Cubs furnished the money for the purchase of the Seattle franchise to Lockhardt and Killefer, thereby making a baseball syndicate on the coast. For that reason he denied that Seattle had the right to vote in the election for president and it was the Seattle vote that elected Williams.

The board, after recognizing Williams as president of the league, reprimanded Wrigley for his alleged attempts to gain control of the Seattle club while he was the principal stockholder of the Los Angeles team, in the same league.

Settling the dispute proved a tangled problem. The faction in the Coast league headed by William H. McCarthy had charged Wrigley with the syndicate scheme. They were upheld in the board's reprimand, but the election of Williams, McCarthy's opponent and supporter of Wrigley, was ceded by the board on the ruling that five clubs have a right to elect a president.

BLIND BAGGAGE "HUNKY" CROSSES THREE FRONTIERS

PARIS, Dec. 12—Riding blind baggage behind the tender of a locomotive 38 hours, Anton Hjcesky recently crossed three frontiers without being molested. The 17-year-old Hungarian youth may not have established a distance record for this style of travel, but he is believed to have set a new mark in dodging customs officers, having evaded six crews of them

Hjcesky told the French police he got aboard the train as it was starting from the Budapest station. Dressed in overalls and jumper, he alighted at the Austrian, Swiss and French frontiers and mingled with railroad employes in the yards until the train was ready to get under way again. Then he would resume his place behind the tender. In this fashion he rode nearly 1,000 miles into Paris.

He returned to the Swiss frontier in style, having an entire second-class compartment to himself, while two French policemen took the greatest care looking after him.

"SO EASY"
Clutch Attachment for Chevrolet Cars
There is nothing so annoying or injurious as the constant grabbing of a clutch which has a tendency to loosen the mechanical parts from the radiator to the rear end and is extremely unpleasant to the ones riding in the car. After this grabbing has taken place for a short time there is a likilhood of its tearing the whole rear end out, which is an unnecessary expense if you will only realize the clutch of any car needs occasional attention. You will have a smooth, easy but positive action thereby saving yourself expensive repair bills and make riding a pleasure as the SO EASY makes a good cluten better.

HERE IS THE IDEAL PLACE for the discriminating buyer. It is a beautiful 10-room house on lot 50x220, very close to the most talked of boulevard in Glendale, where values are advancing by leaps and bounds. It will make someone a lovely home with every convenience—for instance, 5 big, fine bedrooms, with oceans of closet room; lovely big backyard and plenty of garden space, as well as accommodations for chickens. Or, you could put up a big apartment house and make 15 or 20 percent on your money. And then again you could hold it for a few weeks or months and make $5000 on your bargain. I can't, for I need the money now for a very necessary purpose. That's why you, Mr. Frist-man-to-grab-the-opportunity, can make the profit yourself. Who will be the lucky man? Curing your Golf Troubles
By Jim Barnes

Dear Mr. Barnes: Will you please explain the difference in the backswing of the "shut method" as taught by the late Douglas Edgar and the "open method" of Vernon Duncan and others Is there more roll of the forearms in the flat swing than in the upright, and is the position of the left hand or wrist more on top of the shaft in the flat swing than in the other?

L. C. B.

The subject of the shut or open face is more or less confusing because in classifying either reference is usually made to the position of the club at the top of the swing, whereas the difference in results between the two is due to what takes place in delivering the face of the club against the ball. In the open face the toe of the club points to the ground at the top of the swing, the face being perpendicular to the ground. The face of the club is facing obliquely upward when it is said to be closed.

The difference between the two depends on the position of the left wrist at the top of the swing. If the left wrist has been brought almost directly under the shaft the face is kept open. With the closed face the left wrist is to the left of the club at the top of the swing.

It can hardly be said that there is more roll of the wrists in the flat than in the upright swing. J. H. Taylor, a flat swinger, is notable for keeping his wrist under the shaft, employing an open face. James Braid, an upright swinger, uses considerable roll, closes the club face very noticeably. At the same time Braid places his left hand noticeably over toward the right. Yet others who swing more flat do likewise.

Deaths and Funerals

CHARLES W. GORDON

Funeral services for Charles W. Gordon of 2241 Earl street, Los Angeles, will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Little Church of the Flowers. L. G. Scovern Undertake company has charge of arrangements.

EUROPEAN SITUATION TO BE EXPLAINED AT OPEN FORUM

More light on the European situation will be shed at the Los Angeles Open Forum in Music-Art hall, 233 South Broadway, next Sunday night by Dr. Frank Dyer. His subject is "Men and Movements in Europe," and having recently returned from an extended tour through the British Isles and the continental countries, and being a keen observer of events, he is particularly qualified to speak on this subject which is of such vital moment at the present time. The recent election in Great Britain will be interpreted by Dr. Dyer, also comments upon the acute condition in Germany.

The Forum not long ago listened to a lawyer who had recently come back from Europe and now awaits with much anticipation the way in which the European situation will be set forth by a preacher. Music beginning at 7:45 sharp will be furnished by Mrs. Arthur L. Tunison, mezzo-soprano. Bear in mind that no admission fee is made to the Forum and that people of all kinds and of all viewpoints are welcome.

APPRENTICE LACK MENACES UNIONS

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Trade unionism is recognizing the fact that the decline of the apprenticeship system is threatening the existence of the craft unions in this country. Industrial recruits are so scarce that a national campaign is to be undertaken by the Federation of Building Trades Operatives to revive the system.

It has been emphasized that casual labor is replacing skilled artisans in the labor market and while Britain's most efficient craftsmen are said to be finding jobs in the United States and Dominions, the supply of trained labor for Britain is being stopped at the source.

CHURCH URGES PERSONAL CARE FOR COLLEGIANS

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Presidents of colleges and preparatory schools in the United States would assume personal responsibility for the well-being of foreign students, on the ground that their training is an international trust, if recommendations of the council of church boards of education, cooperating with the friendly relations committee of the Y. M. C. A. are adopted.

Declaring that 12,000 students from nearly 100 foreign countries are now in preparatory schools and colleges in the country, the council has recommended:

That the presidents of institutions assume personal responsibility for the well-being of foreign students, on the ground that their training is an international trust.

That when the number is too great to exercise this responsibility the presidents delegate it to a faculty advisor to foreign students.

That the president, or his representatives, keep in close touch with the Christian associations in respect to their work among these students, and assure the latter the same attention that is given to the American student body.

That every student from abroad be afforded the friendship of the faculty members outside of the class room; hospitality of Christian homes; whenever possible, a home where he can come and go as a true friend; fellowship of a friendly church, through personal introduction; opportunity to participate in the church's work; means of self-expression and presentation of his own country in talks to churches, clubs and schools.

Evansville college, Indiana, has decided to grant free tuition to foreign students.

MY NEIGHBOR SAYS

Always keep handy some cloth gloves, made just like babies' mittens, with separate thumb, but fingers all in one. Make them from old pieces of cloth. One in the living room comes in useful if the fire has to be seen to or the hearth brushed up, while in the kitchen they are invaluable for taking hold of hot dishes, baking tins, etc.

GLENDALE WILL HAVE 50,000 BY JANUARY 1?

Many directors commented on the fact that persons traverse San Fernando road under the impression that they are passing through the business district of Glendale.

An appeal for donations was received from the Los Angeles Orthorpaedic foundation through a communication from its president, George W. Dwyer. Secretary E. F. Sanders called attention to the fact that it is customary for the board of directors to make an annual contribution. Director George Bentley immediately got busy with a hat and collected $17.

A resolution, approving the 1920 transportation act and recommending that President Calvin Coolidge leave the present commission intact, was received from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and endorsed.

Acknowledgment of the receipt of a resolution suggesting the repeal of the tax on telegrams was received in communications from Congressman John D. Fredericks and Senator Hiram W. Johnson.

Temporary financial assistance from the individual members of the board was suggested by A. L. Baird for the Porter Sales and Engineering company. He commented on the fact that this factory has assembled eleven sight-seeing buses already and has a contract to supply six more buses at once to the B. & H. Transportation company of Long Beach. He admitted that there is a possibility of this plant being moved to Long Beach.

"Unless something is done," he declared, "we will lose an industry that would be a big help to Glendale."

WASTING MONEY

Hi Snodgrass (wrought up)—"Yep Jim, here I goes an' buys a steamship ticket for my son Tom to South America, he goes aboard, the ship goes under an' he drowns."

Jim Peters—"Ain't it terrible!"

and all other beautiful places in Eagle Rock.

Mr. Sinclair then told of the work the education committee has been doing. All the schools are to get increased building additions. The Eagle Rock school district will get enough to keep it going for the next three years. A senior high school will probably be established within the next two years. There is good reason to believe that the school board will act favorably on all the above suggestions, and Eagle Rock is pretty certain of getting them.

At this time the lighting of Colorado was taken up, but nothing was done about it. Express and telegraph offices are expected to be established here soon, as well as a ticket office for the Union Pacific.

Mr. Young then talked about the traffic and congeston on our boulevards. He told how the city used to be called the "City of Good Fortune," due to the fact that it seemed to obtain almost everything free. A plan to have the old road used again up near the Colorado bridge was discussed. Mr. Young then declared that everyone from Hollywood to Sawtelle is talking about the new highway and how we must get in and dig hard to get our share of the benefits.

The car service, or rather the lack of it, was taken up at this time and dwelt upon rather at length. A suggest to have "Eagle Rock specials," was talked over, but nothing definite was done. It seems Eagle Rock has had splendid cooperation with the Los Angeles railway up until the last three years. Since then, however, the service has been very bad. When a person has to wait 20 to 30 minutes for a car up town and then finds its so packed that a thin sardine would have no chance of wedging in, it's time something should be done.

EAGLE ROCK NOTES

The Thursday Morning Music club meets with Mrs. Johnstone of North Central one week from tomorrow. Richard Strauss will at this time be studied.

Don's forget to attend "The Birds Christmas Carol," at the Central school Friday. If you can, go in the evening, but if that is impossible, then go in the afternoon. The afternoon is to be for the children, but the parents may also be present. The main idea is to be there.

All members of the Business and Professional Women's clubs are asked not to forget the white elephant party at the Central school kindergarten room, Thursday at 8 o'clock. The elephants will be sold and resold if desired. A good time for the members and their guests is assured, so a large representation is expected. Don't forget to bring your elephant.

The regular meeting of the Women's Twentieth Century club will take place tomorrow, at the club house. Mrs. Dan Campbell will be the principal speaker at the luncheon. She is president of the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale. Julge Hervey, the noted traveler and lecturer will give a lecture at the afternoon program.

Coach Joseph Pipal entertained the members of the football team in the Occidental commons last night with a big banquet. Speeches were made, songs given, and a good time in general was had by everyone. A tie for captain of next year's varsity team between Ebers and Riderhoff was the feature of the evening, each man receiving seven votes.

The Occidental College Glee club put on a fine program at the Hollenbeck home last night. The old folks were certainly delighted, and showed their appreciation, by giving the boys a light feed afterwards. The program was about two hours long and when it came to a delightful end, "Occidental Fair" rang in the ears of the appreciative audience. The home has been favored for 19 years with visits from the glee club and it is eagerly looked forward to each year.

BURBANK NOTES

The Woman's club held a very fine business and program meeting yesterday afternoon in the club rooms. The proposed new club house and location were discussed at some length. The women have two very favorable sites in view, one on their property on 7th and Olive and the other in the Ben Mar hills. However the final decision and details will be taken up at the next regular meeting on January 8, 1924. A very fine program was rendered, the first numbers being several beautifully rendered solos by the gifted and talented tenor, Ray McIntosh, accompanied by Miss Marcia Stuart. Dr. Hendricks, whose speaking has been enjoyed by the club before, was enthusiastically received and he gave a very interesting talk on the Navajo Indian. Dr. Hendricks lived on a reservation of Navajo Indians in Arizona as a doctor to these people and had charge of a hospital there and many were the problems he had to cope with, in order to get the trust of the Indians. After the program, refreshments were passed and meeting adjourned.

The Community Investment company has purchased a large tract of land in Block 71 of the Rancho Providencia and Scott tract, along the banks of the Los Angeles river, which it will turn into a beautiful sub-division. There are about from 5 to 7 acres along the river bank that it will turn into a beautiful park, with lawns, trees, shrubs, flowers, fountains and everything necessary to make a "Park Beautiful," and after same is completed it wishes to dedicate it to the city of Burbank to be used as a city park, and asking only that the city maintain it thereafter. Chairman Watson stated that anything that would benefit the city would be most certainly appreciated and acceptable to them and that they would cooperate towards the fulfillment of this project, with many thanks to the Community Investment company. Plans for the sub-division and park are under way and work will begin immediately.

At the weekly luncheon and meeting of the Rotary club of Burbank at the Sunset Canyon club, a new member, Attorney Clifford H. Thompson, was initiated. George Karr, president of the Rotary club at Glendale, was a visitor and one of the speakers of the day, the sum and substance of his talk being "The Duties of a New Member Towards His Club and Himself." Art Napper, J. J. King and W. S. Sandison addressed the club on the "Principals of Rotary." In the absence of President Crawford, Vice-President Van Meter took the chair. A report was received and read from the Rotary club in Tokio, which stated that outside Rotary clubs had sent them $35,000 towards the relief fund and of their appreciation and thanks. A resolution was passed, thanking the management of the Sunset Canyon club for preparing such a delicious luncheon in view of the fact that Kuntzner, saxophones for oboe part; Dorothy Doramon and Erma Mae Snow, first cornets; Alfred Johnson, second cornet; Carlyle Whaley and Claude Biggart, trombones; Arthur Barton and Emily Torchia, saxophones for bassoon part; Dallas Kalbaugh, drums; Adolph Nydegger, cymbals; Dorothy Zeitlin, bells.

The number of violators of the traffic laws is on the decline the past week and those appearing yesterday and their fines were J. Burns $5; H. Heyman $10; E. C. Calavan $10; E. J. Preston $10; Loren Neilson $20; Noell Sands $15 and Robert Lavin $20. Suspended sentences were given E. F. Munejan and H. Shingledecker. Those failing to appear are Paul R. Smith, J. Hernandez, E. M. Hubbard, W. R. Smith, Phil Hastine, R. McGill, F. J. Jay, G. E. Stinson and C. V. Rhodimer, for whom warrants will be issued.

The city library, which is now located in the city hall building, will move to new quarters which will probably be that on South Olive avenue, just below the boulevard. This move is made necessary as the city hall is cramped for more office space, owing to the growth of business, and the room now occupied by the library will probably be turned over to the city engineer. The new library room will be remodeled and made into very comfortable quarters and very accessible to the children as well as the business people. This room will probably be leased for a year, during which time plans will be made for a beautiful library building.

That the business men of Burbank do not favor the new proposed parking ordinance was made very evident by the petition presented to the board by W. A. Thompson and signed by 47 busiposed the parking at an angle on posed the parking at an agle on one side of the boulevard and parallel parking on the other side with a time limit of 1 hour between the hours of 9 to 4 p. m. and one-half hour from 4 to 6 p. m. The business men desire that the board continue the parking of cars on the boulevard just as is being done at the present time, and in consideration of this they (the business men) would agree to park their cars on the side streets during business hours, as they feel that parking under the new proposed ordinance would be detrimental to the city and to the business houses. Another petition received, signed by nineteen of the business people, request that the board adopt the Van Nuys parking system

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO LUKE

Many writers have undertaken to compose accounts of the movement which has developed among us, just as the original eye-witness who became teachers of the message have handed it down to us. For that reason, Theophilus, and because I have investigated it all carefully from the beginning, I have determined to write a connected account of it for Your Excellency, so that you may be reliably informed about the things you have been taught.

In the days when Herod was king of Judea, there was a priest named Zechariah who belonged to the division of Abijah. His wife was also a descendant of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth. They were both upright in the sight of God, blamelessly observing all the Lord's commands and reuirements. They had no children, for Elziabeth was barren; and they were both advanced in life.

Once when he was acting as priest before God, when his division was on duty; it fell to his lot, according to the priests' practice, to go into the sanctuary of the Lord and burn the incense, while all the throng of people was outside, praying at the hour of the incense offering. And an angel of the Lord appeared to him, standing at the right of the altar of incense. When Zechariah saw him he was startled and overcome with fear. And the angel said to him,

"Do not be afraid, Zechariah, for your prayer has been heard. Your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and you are to name him John. This will bring gladness and delight to you, and many will rejoice over his birth. For he will be great in the sight of the Lord. He will drink no wine or strong drink, but he will be filled with the holy Spirit from his very birth, and he will turn many of Israel's descendants to the Lord their God. He will go before him with the spirit and the power of Elijah, to reconcile fathers to their children, and to bring the disobedient back to the wisdom of upright men, to make a people perfectly ready for the Lord."

Zechariah said to the angel,

"How am I to know that this is so? For I am an old man, and my wife is advanced in life."

The angel answered,

"I am Gabriel. I stand in the very presence of God. I have been sent to speak to you and tell you this good news. Now you will keep silent and be unable to speak until the day when this happens, because you have not believed what I have said, for it will all be fulfilled in due time."

The people were waiting for Zechariah, and wondering that he stayed so long in the sanctuary. But when he came out he could not speak to them, and they knew that he had seen a vision in the sanctuary. For his part, he kept making signs to them, and remained dumb. And when his period of service was over, he went back to his home.

Soon afterward his wife Elizabeth began to expect a child, and she kept herself in seclusion for five months.

"This is what the Lord has done for me," she said, "now that he has deigned to remove the disgrace I have endured."

In the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent by God to a town in Galilee called Nazareth, to a maiden there who was engaged to be married to a man named Joseph, a descendant of David. The maiden's name was Mary. And the angel went into the town and said to her.

"Good morning, favored woman! The Lord be with you!"

But she was startled at what he said, and wondered what this greeting meant. And the angel said to her,

"Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have gained God's approval. You are to become a mother and you will give birth to a son, and you are to name him Jesus. He will be great and will be called the Son of the Most High. The Lord God will give him the throne of his forefather David, and he will reign over Jacob's house forever; his reign will have no end."

Mary said to the angel,

"How can this be, when I have no husband?"

The angel answered,

"The holy Spirit will come over you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you. For that reason your child will be called holy, and the Son of God. And your relative, Elizabeth, although she is old, is going to give birth to a son, and this is the sixth month with her who was said to be barren. For nothing is ever impossible for God."

And Mary said,

"I am the Lord's slave. Let it be as you say."

Then the angel left her.

In those days Mary set out and hurried to the hill-country, to a town in Judah, and she went to Zechariah's house and greeted Elizabeth. When Elizabeth heard Mary's greeting, the babe stirred within her. And Elizabeth was filled with the holy Spirit and she gave a great cry, and said,

"You are the most favored of women,
And blessed is your child!
Who am I,
To have the mother of my Lord come to me?

"For the moment your greeting reached my ears,
The child stirred with joy within me!
Blessed is she who has believed,
For what the Lord has promised her will be fulfilled!"

And Mary said,

"My heart extols the Lord,
My spirit exults in God my Savior.
For he has noticed his slave in her humble station,
For from ths time all the ages will think me favored!

"For the Almighty has done wonders for me,
How holy his name is!
He shows his mercy age after age
To those who fear him

"He has done mighty deeds with his arm,
He has routed the proud-minded.
He has dethroned monarchs and exalted the poor,
He has satisfied the hungry with good things, and sent the rich away empty-handed.

"He has helped his servant Israel,
Remembering his mercy,
As he promised our forefathers
To have mercy on Abraham and his descendants forever!"

So Mary stayed with her about three months, and then returned home.

Now the time came for Elizabeth's child to be born, and she gave birth to a son. Her neighbors and relatives heard of the great mercy the Lord had shown her, and they came and congratulated her. On the eighth day they came to circumcise the child, and they were going to name him Zechariah, after his father. But his mother said,

"No! He is to be named John."

They said to her,

"There is no one among your relatives who bears that name."

But they made signs to the child's father and asked him what he wished to have the child named. He asked for a writing tablet, and wrote,

TUESDAY CLUB HAS CHARMING PROGRAM

Fortunate indeed were the members of the Tuesday Afternoon club who attended the regular meeting of that organization on Tuesday when a most delightful and charming program was given by the famous Orpheus Four, male quartet. A very wise selection of numbers made the program one of pleasure to all listeners, as it included compositions to suit every taste.

Hugo Kirchofer conducted an hour of community singing of Christmas carols and old familiar songs, preceding the regular business session, which was in charge of Mrs. Daniel Campbell. Children of members of the club will be entertained at a Christmas program to be given at the next meeting of the club. The regular luncheon meeting will be held at 12:30. Luncheon speakers will include Mrs. W. E. Mabee, who will talk on "Christmas Music," and Mrs. Sears, whose subject will be "Art." On December 31, 1923, the Tuesday Afternoon club will entertain the young people at a New Year's eve party.

Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, program chairman, announced that she was arranging a variety program for Thursday night, when the club would entertain the strangers and new comers to Glendale under the auspices of Community Service. Dr. Margaret M. York, who represented the club at a district meeting held in Los Angeles recently, at which the matter of establishing in that city a mental hygiene clinic was discussed, gave her report. A silver offering for the philanthropic work o fthe club was taken up by Mrs. T. H. Hudson and her committee members.

Mrs. Campbell announced that at the meeting of the executive board of the club held Tuesday morning it was decided that the 50 cent per member tax, which will amount to about $500, of the club towards the expenses of the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's club, to be held in Los Angeles from June 3 to 10, would be taken out of the treasury and no special assessment would be made on the members.

The members of the quartet, which includes Messrs. Glasse, Campbell, Dudley and Adams, were then introduced and gave a program which included "The Pledge of Fellowship," "Just a Wearying for You" (Bond), and a group of three popular songs, "Carolina Mammy," "Just a Llittle Blue" and "Carolina in the Morning," by the quartet; baritone solos by Mr. Campbell, the Armourers Song from "Robinhood," "The Preacher and the Bear" and another selection from "Faust." As an encore he sang "Ephram Johnson." The next numbers by the quartet were "The Bugle Song," "I Love You Truly" (Bond), and sextette from "Lucia." Sam Glasse, tenor, gave a group of Indian love lyrics and as an en core sang "Marchita." The next three numbers by the quartet were Opening Chorus from "Robinhood," "Mighty Lak a Rose" and "Gypsy Love Song." A bass solo by Mr. Dudley, "Asleep in the Deep," quartet singing of "Annie Laurie" and an Irish Song came next, and the program closed with that wonderful Soldiers' Chorus from "Faust."

LARGE CITIES HAVE SMALL DEATH RATE

The theory long held by many persons that the child of the congested districts of larger cities has a less promising prospect of surviving the ills common to babyhood than his brother or sister of the smaller town is somewhat upset by statistics just published by the American Child Health Association, of which Herbert Hoover is president.

While the lowest infant mortality rates registered in the United States are in smaller towns, such as Braintree, Mass., and Berkeley, Calif., which are chiefly residential communities, it is in cities of this same size, with populations of between 10,000 and 25,000, that the highest rates are registered. This is true particularly of manufacturing and mining centers.

New York City, with its great population of approximately six millions, reported in 1922 that only 75 of each thousand children born died before reaching their first birthday. This was a marked decrease from the rate previously recorded and is attributed by the association in a large measure to a more wide-spread effort to carry modern health methods into the homes and to safeguard children in the schools.

Buffalo, with 103, Kansas City, with 100 and Pittsburgh, with 96, have the highest rate of the 25 American cities with more than 250,000 population. Of these same large cities an exceedingly low death rate is reported by Seattle, with 49; Minneapolis with 53 and Portland, Ore., with 56.

Of the next smaller towns, those of from 100,000 to 250,000 population, the highest rates are reported from San Antonio, with 143; Fall River, Mass., with 126, and Trenton, N. J., with 108. The lowest rates among cities of this population are Grand Rapids, with 61; Bridgeport, with 64, and Omaha, with 64.

Pawtucket, R. I., and Charleston, S. C., are highest among cities of 50,000 to 100,000, with 129; Chester, Penn., comes next with 122. The lowest rate among cities of this class is that of East Orange, N. J., with 34; Berkeley and Long Beach, Calif., rank second and third with 37 and 38, respectively.

Of cities of from 25,000 to 50,000 population Pueblo, Colo., is highest wtih 151. Lewiston, Me., has 138 and Woonsocket, R. I., 137. Newport, R. I., is low in cities of this type with 28. Next comes Montclair, N. J., with 42 and Alameda, Calif., with the same as Montclair.

One of the highest rates in the United States is returned from Bristol, R. I., with 202, and Dunmore, Penn., a mining center, has 177. And in this same classification of cities, from 10,000 to 25,000, the lowest mark in the United States is registered. It is that of Braintree, Mass., with only 24. Columbus, Miss., is close up with only 25 and Astoria, Oregon, has cut its rate to the almost irreducible minimum of 29.

The wide disparity between conditions in the towns of the last-listed classification, such as 202 for Bristol and 24 for Braintree is explained by the fact that Braintree is a surburban residential community with few manufacturing interests, while Bristol is essentially a manufacturing center.

Shell-Torn Verdun Building Stadium

VERDUN, Dec. 12.—A standard athletic stadium, with regulation rugby and associatoin football fields, running tracks, velodrome, grandstands and club house, being erected on the edge of this battered city, simultaneously with the work of reconstructing homes to provide shelter for the war victims, is evidence of the place which outdoor sports and athletics now occupy in French life.

"London Park," as the new grounds will be known, in grateful appreciation of the fact that 350,000 francs of the amount necessary for the expense involved were subscribed in London, is to be officially inaugurated by Premier Poincare next summer. Invitations will be sent to celebrated foreign athletes and their participation is expected greatly to enhance the ceremony from an athletic point of view.

A straightway cinder path chute of 200 metres is now completed and the plans call for a circular cinder track of 500 metres. Seating accommodations will be provided for 10,000 spectators with additional room for 20,000 standees.

The work commenced last summer has been somewhat delayed, owing to the fact that the site of the stadium is between the Tour des Champs and the Porte Chaussee in the center of the worst shell torn area surrounding the town, and workmen had to proceed very carefully as their picks on many occasions turned up duds which exploded with belated fury.

"EDUCATION" FROM MINISTERIAL VIEWPOINT

By REV. O. B. SMART

President Coolidge and Mayor Robinson both did well in issuing proclamations on Education Week.

Mayor Robinson says well and appropriately, "It is for you"—us fellow citizens—"to determin how long it shall be before the people of this nation shall dwell together as a people united in thought, sympathies and community of purpoce, cherishing one flag, one language and one ideal of government."

These proclamations naturally suggest what is and what should be our national thought, purpose and one ideal as a people.

No argument is needed to show that God's Book, the Bible, is the best and highest authority for our nationality, law, teaching, education and salvation. The nation's ideals should be as God's ideal concerning our individual and general character. Christ says, "God so lovedthe world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him, should not perish, but have everlasting life."

To His Disciples He said, "Help the children to come unto me and to know me, and don't hinder them, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." "And their spirit do always behold the face of my Father in heaven." And again, "Whoever will not receive the kingdom of heaven as a little child shall not enter therein." And, "Whoever shall cause one of these little ones to offend; it would be better that a millstone should be fastened to his neck and he be drowned in the sea."

And to adults he said, "Except ye be born again, and become as a little child, innocent, and forgiven, ye shall not enter there." And again, "Go ye into all the world and preach My gospel to all nations, teaching to do whatsoever I command them."

And still again: "How think ye? If a man have a hundred sheep and one of them goes astray, doth he not leave the ninety and nine and go into the mountains and seek the lost. And if so be that he find it, verily, I say unto you, he rejoiceth more over that one sheep, than over the ninety and nine that went not astray. Even so, it is not the will of your Father which is in Heaven that one of these little ones should perish." (Matt. 18).

II Peter 3:9, says: "The Lord is not slack concerning judgment as some count lackness, but He is longsuffering and not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance and the acknowledging of the truth."

Then Romans 4:25, says: "Jesus was delivered for our offenses, and was raised again for your justification;" 5:1-5: "So, being justified by faith we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Also: "We have access by faith into this grace, in which we stand, and rejoice in the hope of the glory of God; so also we glory in tribulations, knowing that tribulations worketh patience, and patience experienced, and experience hope, and hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us."

Romans 7:22-25: "For I delight in the law of God, after the inward man; but I find another law in my faculties, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members. O, wretched man that I am! Who shall deliver me from this body of death? I thank God through our Lord Jesus Christ. So then, with the mind I myself serve the law of God; but with the flesh, the law of sin, carnally."

Romans 7:1: "Therefore, there is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the carnal mind, for the law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made us free from the law of sin and death. For what the law could not do, in that that it is weak on account of flesh, the carnal mind. God, sending His own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, condemned sin in the flesh, that the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us who walk not after the flesh, but after the spirit. * * Because the carnal mind is enmity against God, and is not subject to the law of God neither indeed can be."

Besides, there are only two substances in existence with which we have to deal. First, there is spirit, whose central law is purpose, and second, matter, whose central law is gravity. Purpose is the first and universal law of spiritual action and of all spiritual activities. Romans 8:28: "Hence we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, and are called according to his purpose. For whom He did foreknow would trust and obey. He also did prepurpose to be conformed tot he image of His Son that He be the first born among many brethren. Moreover, whom He did predestinate, them He called, and whom He called; them He also justified, and whom He justified, He also conformed, and whom He conformed. He also glorified. * * He that spared not His own Son, but freely delivered Him up for us all, how shall He not with Him also give us all things? Seeing that He ever liveth to make intercession for us."

And again in Eph. 1:35, He says, "Blessed be the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in the heavenly experiences, that are in Christ, according as He hath prepurposed before the foundation of the cosmos that we should be holy and without blame before Him in love; having prepurposed us unto the adoption of Children by Jesus Christ to himself according to the good pleasure of His will to the praise of the glory of His grace, wherein He hath made us accepted in the beloved. * * That we (the apostles) should be to the praise of His glory, who first trusted in Christ. In whome ye (Ephesians) also fore-hoped after ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation, in whom also after ye trusted, ye were sealed with holy spirit as promised, which is the earnest of our inheritance, until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the praise of this glory."

Romans 12:1-2: "Therefore, brethren, I beseech you, by these mercies of God that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be ye not conformed to this world, but be ye transformed, by the renewing of your mind that ye may prove by experience what is the will of God, the good, and acceptable and the perfect."

Phillipians 2:5-6: "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus." And also I Thes. 5:23: "And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly, and I pray God that your whole spirit, and soul, and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. Faithful is He that calleth you who also will do it."

And 1 Tim. 1:5-11 says: "Now the end of the commandment is perfect love, out of a pure heart with a good conscience and a perfect trust. * * According to the glorious gospel of the bless God which was committed to my trust."

So II Tim. 3: 16 and 17 says, "All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness, that the man of God may be perfect thoroughly furnished unto good works."

Finally, Titus 2:11-14 says what gives in one compound sentence the full force of both the Old and New Testaments, thus. "The grace (love) of God that bringeth salvation for all men, hath appeared. It teaches that we must reject all ungodlikeness and every worldly hurt and live soberly, rightly and godly in this life, looking eagerly for that blessed hope, the manifestation of the glory of the Great God, and of our Saviour, Jesus Christ, who gave himself for us that He might redeem us from all iniquity and purify us unto Himself a peculiar people zealous of good works, which He before ordained that we shall walk in to the praise and glory of His grace."

Education is not merely getting facts, ideas or information, or gathering knowledge and stowing it away as we collect facts and put them away, like scraps in a pigeon hole. Rather, Education is the drawing out of our powers fully, physical, mental, moral and spiritual, and training them for right action, in proper development for true and noble character and righteous purposes.

The greatest thing we do is to think rightly and express our thinking accurately for good purposes only. The wise man said, "Keep thy heart (thy thinking) above all keeping, for out of that are the issues of life." A thousand years later a much greater and wiser said, "Out of the heart proceed thoughts, both good and bad."

These are what make a man or break him. So keep your thinking above all keeping, for out of that comes the issues of life.

Evil thinking begets evil action, and whatsoever a man or a nation sows, that shall they reap. "He that sows to the flesh (the carnal mind) shall of the flesh reap corruption, and he that soweth to the spirit, shall of the spirit reap life everlasting."

So if you would reap good remember to think God's thoughts after Him. Cultivate God's ideals and your ideals will give you good fruit. This is the duty of the person and the nation.

TALK STUDEBAKER TO BE IN GLENDALE DEC. 13, 14 AND 15

The "Talk Studebaker" is the sensation of the day. It has been doing "it's stuff" in several other cities of Southern California and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday it will be at the Packer Auto company, corner of Brand and Colorado.

This car sees, hears and talks. It will be at the local Studebaker agency on these days between 9 and 12 o'clock in the morning and at 1:30 and 5:30 in the afternoon and from 7 until 9:30 in the evening. Everyone in Glendale is invited to be present and hear this supernatural car.

WOMEN RUN METAL BUSINESS

LONDON, Dec. 12.—There is a metal company in Great Britain which is administered wholly by women. It has a woman chairman, women directors, a woman auditor and a woman secretary, as well as a qualified woman engineer and metallurgist. Two titled women have recently joined the board of directors.

AT THE THEATRES

JACKIE COOGAN REALLY LIVES THE PART HE PLAYS

Responding to a cordial invitation from "Uncle Bill" Howe, whose avuncular heart is big enough to take in, not only all the boys and girls but newspaper scribes as well, a Daily Press writer journeyed down to the Glendale theater yesterday afternoon to see Jackie Coogan in "Long Live the King." A noisy bunch of happy students fairly packed the house and the youngsters seemed to enjoy every moment, from the time when the Glendale Dynamiters trotted out on the Coliseum oval in the opening news reel to the final moment when Prince Otto was crowned king of Livionia and "Nikky" won Princess Hedwig as his bride. While there was wonderful scenery throughout and good acting by all the characters, Jackie Coogan was easily the peer of all the players, whether as the Prince in the stilted round of a pampered "royalty or as a real boy in his runaway episodes. No actor this writer has seen since the days of the incomparable Joseph Jefferson enters so thoroughly into his part as does Jackie, who seems to really live the character he is playing. One wonders, on seeing this play, what there is to envy in the narrow, circumscribed life of a prince, a king or any other unfortunate member of a royal house. If you haven't seen Jackie Coogan in this wonderful picture, do so by all means during the remaining three days of his engagement. It is such clean, wholesome plays as "Long Live the King" that give one hope for the future of the film drama, now so steeped in sordid, tawdry pictures seemingly designed to depict indecency and lewdness as the standard for screen plays.

BILL HART AT T. D. & L. IN "WILD BILL HICKOK"

Wm. S. Hart will be seen again tomorrow at the T. D. & L. in the play written and supervised by himself, and which he considers the best of his characterizations, "Wild Bill Hickok." Also five acts of good vaudeville.

BRITISH BLIND GET GOOD TRAINING

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, Dec. 12. — St. Dunstans, London's great training center for ex-service men blinded in the war, has already graduated more than 3,000 blind men who have been able to take up various professions and trades, and are earning their own living and that of their dependents.

A blind band of eight pieces, which plays at one of London's popular dance halls, is an example of the result of training at St. Dunstans. Other men have obtained jobs as shoe-makers, piano tuners, cabinet polishers and clerks.

HE LET IMMENSE WEALTH ESCAPE

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, Dec. 12.—The man responsible for the opening of the Kimberley diamond fields in South Africa, sold the fields for $2,500, believing them exhausted after having removed several thousand stones. The fields have yielded diamonds ever since, and had Edwin William Streeter, who died here recently at the age of 89, retained his property he would have been one of the richest men in the world.

LEGION NEWS

For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of Justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrete and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.—Preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—Testimony offered in the investigation of the U. S. veterans' bureau concerning the purchase of a site for the government hospital at Livermore, California, was corrobative of an investigation conducted by A. E. Graupner, chairman of the rehabilitation committee in this state.

According to the legion report, Col. Forbes was bluntly told by American Legion men that the Livermore action was filled with graft, and if Forbes was not participating in, he was conniving therewith. The report goes on to state that Forbes failed to deny the accusation and contented himself with the observation that the circumstances surrounding the purchase of the Livermore site were none of the American Legion's business.

Judge Graupner reports to the senate committee that Director Forbes was in San Francisco on June 28, 1922, stopping at the Fairmont hotel. The American Legion was not satisfied with the transactions relating to the Livermore purchase so Captain John R. Quinn, now national commander of the legion, and then head of the California department, Judge Graupner and others called upon Forbes to discuss the matter with the reply as indicated.
